Nixon Ready to Unveil New Economy Program

PRESIDENT PREPARES ECONOMIC MOVES

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an unveiling tentatively set for tonight, President Nixon has settled on a major new program to fight the nation's worst outbreak of inflation in more than 20 years.

Nixon will disclose the proposals in a nationwide television-radio broadcast at 8:30 p.m. Details of the new plan, described variously by administration sources as a "major operation," a "firm but moderate approach," and "more than cosmetic this time," were hard to come by. Most sources expected a significant tightening of wage-price controls along with several other anti-inflation measures.

Although there was no confirmation, some officials said the possibility of price ceilings in selective industries where inflation has been a particular problem could not be ruled out. But an across-the-board freeze of wages and prices was considered unlikely.

The new program is expected to feature a get-tough enforcement policy of present, largely voluntary Phase 3 wage-price controls.

During several days of intensive debate with his economic advisers, Nixon has gone over almost every conceivable option to tackle the price surge that has swept the nation in the past few months, administration sources said. He met for 90 minutes with advisers Tuesday.

With prices rising at the highest rate since 1951 and Congress threatening to impose a wage-price freeze of its own, Nixon "realizes the compelling political need for action," a highly placed source said.

Until Tuesday, the congressional pressure for tougher controls was coming from Senate Democrats. But then Republican senators voted 22 to 8 at a luncheon meeting in favor of some kind of selective controls or a freeze.

Meanwhile, Republicans won a delay, at least until today, on a vote on Sen. William Proxmire's proposal to require a 90-day freeze on wages, prices, consumer interest rates, profits and rents.

Officials expected the President to move against recently posted price boosts in the steel and copper industries in an attempt to create more credibility for the price-control program.

Nixon also has seriously considered flexible export controls, sources said. The idea would be to try to increase the supplies of commodities at home and pull down prices, even though the world market prices may be higher.

The administration's problems are demonstrated by the latest indicators of inflation. Consumer prices from January through April surged by 9.2 per cent. Food prices alone went up by 25.4 per cent during the same period.

Further, the May Wholesale Price Index showed no letup. Wholesale prices rose by 2 per cent, a rate of 24 per cent if continued for a whole year.

The administration has spoken against a new freeze on wages and prices, saying the economy is now very close to its potential and that a freeze would create even more shortages and make the problem worse.

The types of control actions discussed in option papers presented to the President were much more selective, according to sources.

The President also had before him a proposal to tighten up more on spending.

Stans Testifies on Cash Transfer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said today he was told six weeks ago that "a man named Tony" relayed $75,000 from President Nixon's political organization to the seven original Watergate defendants to pay their legal fees.

Stans reviewed before the Senate's televised Watergate hearing the June 29, 1972, arrangement under which he said he gave the money to Herbert Kalmbach, then Nixon's personal attorney.

"I asked him why he wanted the money and he said it was on high authority for a White House project not related to the election and I would have to trust him," Stans said.

Stans, chief fund-raiser for the Nixon re-election campaign, said he gave the money to Kalmbach without checking further.

He said that only this year did he learn the money was destined for the men arrested in the Watergate wiretapping burglary. Stans said that was six weeks ago, and the information came from an attorney for Kalmbach.

"In that conversation, Mr. Kalmbach's attorney told me that Mr. Kalmbach had raised the money for the purpose of giving it to a man named Tony," Stans said. "He did not give me his last name or any other details, but he said it was for the purpose of paying legal fees for the defendants in the Watergate case."

"I do not know who Tony was," Stans said. Stans returned to the witness stand to deny anew that he had any advance knowledge of Watergate.

He said he received a "pep talk" from Nixon in August of last year, two months after the break-in at Democratic offices, but that Nixon didn't discuss the matter with him beyond that.

Stans said Nixon said he was aware Stans was taking "considerable punishment in the press" for refusing to answer questions about the wiretapping, that he appreciated Stans' sacrifice, and hoped Stans "could continue to take it."

He said he had absolutely no information from any source to indicate the President knew about the wiretapping ahead of time, or had anything to do with the cover-up. Stans faced further questioning about a document that indicates he set up a $1-million fund in the Commerce Department for "activities that will be beneficial to the President's re-election."

Action from several congressmen for decision on whether or not President Nixon should be impeached. Story on page 48.

Stans reluctantly began testifying before the Senate Watergate committee Tuesday after the panel rejected efforts to delay his appearance.

He will be followed to the witness table by former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder who, sources say, "spilled his guts" to Senate investigators after being granted limited immunity from prosecution. Magruder is believed to have played a key role in trying to cover up the Watergate scandal and has implicated other high officials.

The potentially explosive memorandum regarding Stans was brought to light by Rufus L. Edmisten, the committee's deputy chief counsel, who initiated the questioning of the man who left the Commerce Department to raise campaign money for President Nixon.

The document, dated July 28, 1971, and marked "confidential" for then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell from Magruder, said Stans had "built up a discretionary fund at Commerce that will total approximately $1,000,000."

"He is using this fund for conferences, hiring and other activities that will be beneficial to the President's re-election."

"If you feel it is appropriate," the memo continued, "Secretary Stans might discuss this concept with other Cabinet officers to see if they can develop the same kind of fund within their own departments."

Presidential chief of staff H. R. Haldeman was marked to receive a blind copy of the memo.

Asked to explain what was meant by the document, Stans replied: "I cannot tell you very much about it. I have no idea what the concept was. I think it must have been based on some misunderstanding or other."

"I had no fund in the Department of Commerce apart from an authorized, budgeted fund of the department, and I think either Mr. Magruder or Mr. (Dick) Whitney (Stans' political aide) would be the ones to have to explain that memorandum."

Stans also was asked if he met with Mitchell last June 24, one week after the Watergate break-in "to find out from him what had happened."

He replied that he probably had a meeting at that time but didn't recall discussing Watergate or "whether there were others involved" in addition to the five men arrested inside Democratic headquarters.

Magruder is reported ready to testify that he attended such a meeting and that Stans was told the incident involved persons higher in the re-election committee than James W. McCord Jr., the campaign security chief, who was caught in the break-in.

Chamber Hears Wilson on Pension

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON, N.Y. — Gov. Malcolm Wilson, speaking before the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, came out strongly in favor of pension reform as recommended by the Kinsel Commission.

"I can say the stark choice is between a pension system under Kinsel, Wilson said before a crowd of some 100 persons at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, "or the bankruptcy of our municipalities and school districts."

Stating that it was "unfortunate" that the State Legislature did not act on the recommendations of the Kinsel Commission during its regular session which ended two weeks ago, Wilson called for passage when the solons meet in special session on June 23.

The "totally new retirement package" proposed by Kinsel would affect employees hired after July 1 of this year. "We're not laying a glove on existing employees," Wilson emphasized—and would combine their retirement benefits with Social Security to provide a retirement income of, according to Wilson, 80 per cent of their average salaries for their three highest wage earning years.

Wilson noted that under legislation passed by Congress last year, a person entering the labor market in his early 20's this year could retire on Social Security payments at the age of 65 of some $28,000 a year due to built in escalator clauses in the federal law.

Wilson spoke of the "tremendous pressure" state legislators have been under from public employe groups on this issue, but noted adversely that he had "not seen any evidence of understanding or communication between the people and their (state) representatives in this county or in any other county in the state" on the subject.

The first question put to Wilson during the question and answer session following his speech involved his political future. Did he plan to run for governor?

Governor calls for special session of State Legislature. Story on page 4.

Briefly mentioning his more than 30 years in state government—Wilson was elected to the Assembly in 1938, served 20 years and was elected to the first of four terms as lieutenant governor in 1958—he said, "I would like to think that at some time I would have the privilege and opportunity of serving the people of this state as their governor."

As to Gov. Rockefeller seeking another term, Wilson replied that the chief executive was "keeping his options open" but said that if Rockefeller ran again, "he would have my full tax, taking the sales tax from appearance were made by respective municipalities. That Richard Matthews, Chamber proposal was floated out (dur-son expects to be on the ticket ing the last legislative session) with him. "Owing to our unique it's still floating out," Wilson relationship over the years, I said, "There's a lot of problems would expect to be asked (to run) again," Wilson told The Freeman.

On Stewart Field, Wilson had this observation: "The extent of state's loss of business due to enthusiasm (for the project) its high taxes, Wilson noted that is in direct proportion to the 'we are neck and neck with distance in miles from Stewart Hawaii in having the highest Field."

Wilson said that there was a "clear need" for a fourth combined state and local taxes. Wilson said that there was a "clear need" for a fourth combined state and local taxes. Wilson also addressed himself president of the Chamber, to a question on the state tak-moderated the program. Lt. Gov. Wilson was introduced by tration of welfare through a David H. $135 Thousand Federal Grant for Park

By LYNN MULVANEY

WASHINGTON, D.C. — One half of the $270,000 price tag for Ulster County's new park site on the Hudson River, two miles north of the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge, has been picked up by the federal government.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., announced yesterday that a federal grant of $135,000 had been appropriated by the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

The remaining $135,000 will be split by the state and local government in amounts to be determined.

The 92-acre site, considered a choice piece of waterfront property is being purchased from the St. George's Episcopal Church in New York City which previously used the property for St. George's Children's Camp.

In early May the Ulster County Legislature exercised its $270,000 option to purchase the property which is located off County Road 60, the Ulster Landing Road, which provides excellent access to the property option on the property but it has been reported.

The Legislature had held an option on the property but trees. Rock formations and agreed to move quickly on purchasing it for a number of reasons including the fact that a trailer park developer from New Jersey had expressed serious interest in acquiring the land.

The proposal to buy St. George's Camp received the endorsement of the Ulster County Youth and Recreation Committee which had been studying the recreation needs of the county for some time.

According to the Office of Planning Director Herbert Hekler, the property is heavily wooded with many beautiful old trees. Rock formations and ravines give the property great interest for nature study or simply taking a walk in an interesting area.

Considered the most valuable feature however is 3,000 feet of unspoiled river frontage with several hundred feet of sand beach.

The water quality of the Hudson is classified as "A". The site is quite hilly with approximately half of the land on the same general level as Ulster Landing Road. The remainder is either steep bank or waterfront level. Most of the land is not suitable for intensive development because of heavy soils and steep slopes.

The property includes several buildings which could easily be converted for county park purposes. Among the most significant are a caretaker's residence, a dining hall-kitchen building, two former dormitories with toilets and showers and a former recreation hall which includes a stage.

St. George's is located in the center of the county's existing and future highest population concentration. Public facilities in this area are inadequate for the 70,000 persons directly served.

The Planning Board said it felt the property had great potential as a "quiet natural riverfront property offering swimming, boating, beautiful woods, picnicking, camping and simply a delightful place to be near the Hudson River." The committee felt further that it would be "a fine contrast to the probable hustle and bustle at the County Fairgrounds Park."

Tornado Related Death in Dutchess

As the front continued into Ulster County, Poughkeepsie. The twister which cut through hail, gusty winds and locally heavy rains were experienced, north of St. Mary's Church and curry had reached a record breaking 101 degrees at 2 p.m. temperatures dropped 16 degrees in 15 minutes as the first hailstones changed quickly to rain in late afternoon. The 101 reading bested a 97 degree previous high for the date set in 1949 and marked the second day of century readings this month.

Downed tree limbs and lightning strikes caused scattered power outages in Ulster County including Barclay Heights, Saugerties Village and along Old Route 209 in Hurley. Approximately 500 customers were without power briefly during the period. Central Hudson crews were on repair duty from 5 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. when all areas were back in operation.

Elsewhere in the state, tornado strikes were reported at Malone in the northeast, Elizabethtown in Essex County near Lake Chaplain and in the Southern Tier near Elmira.

Wind gusts of up to 66 miles per hour were recorded at Syracuse and heavy hail was reported in several portions of the state, including a one-inch downfall at Scotia near Albany.

All of this violent weather is clearing the air for a more comfortable June weekend according to forecasters. The clearing trend will be accompanied by temperatures in the low 80's and low humidity, giving the weather a high rating on the "rare day in June" scale.

Four City Firemen Injured

KINGSTON A fire at a home on 24 O'Neil Street, which had all the city's paid firemen and volunteers called out, either at the scene or on a standby, resulted in the injury of four paid firemen and extensive damage to the structure, Tuesday night.

Central Station received the first of two telephone alarms at 9:17 p.m. and arrived to find a two-story frame dwelling at 24 O'Neil Street heavily involved in flames. The house is owned by James Lynch of Island Park, L. I., and occupied by his niece, Ruth Abernathy. Mrs. Abernathy escaped injury.

Flames were observed from the street on the first floor, rear of the structure. Firefighters managed to save the structure but the entire kitchen was gutted by flames, there was smoke damage to the entire building and slight water damage on the first floor and the basement.

Injured in the fire was firefighter William Schwerdtfeger who fell from a first story window and injured his back. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital where he was treated and released and is still off duty. Three other firefighters sustained slight injuries. Ernest Renn had a laceration to his chin; Jason Ward had a burn on the right elbow and Lt. Robert Priest, in charge of the Wiltwyck Station forces, had slight burns on both hands. All three men remained on station despite their injuries.

Responding to the fire, under the command of Deputy Chief Hugh Greer were Engine One and Truck One from Central Station, Engine Two and Truck

Two from Wiltwyck Station and Engine Three from Rondout Station.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation. Firemen turned the building over to Mrs. Abernathy at 11:10 p.m.

Just prior to that fire, firemen responded to a telephone alarm at the Stadium Diner to find a compressor motor in the basement involved in flames. Firemen extinguished it with CD2, removed the motor, and were back in quarters at 8:45 p.m. They were under the command of Deputy Chief Hugh Greer.

Snyder Attempts Hunter Block

KINGSTON County Legislator Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1) moved today to try and block any possible state approval of plans to construct a 100-unit townhouse condominium at the base of Hunter Mountain near the Schoharie Creek.

In a public statement, Snyder urged all sportsmen, the County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs and all interested citizens to lend their support to the intent of a 1972 resolution already passed by the Ulster County Legislature which "opposes the use of Schoharie Creek water and the replacing of that water with effluent of treated sewage." Snyder said the developers, Snyder-Westerlind Inc., of Hunter (no connection) are asking permission to discharge treated sewerage and storm water drainage into the Schoharie Creek. This discharge, he said would considerably raise the temperature of the stream and make it unfit for trout habitat.

Ulster and Greene counties, Snyder explained, "are most fortunate to have in our area what has been described as the best trout streams in the state.

Both counties depend greatly on the influx of vacation business and revenues derived from the sportsmen who visit here from all parts of the state," he said. "A project of the magnitude of the planned development could seriously harm this vacation business and further deny the use of the waterways to future generations, among them our own children, Snyder said.

"One of our greatest concerns is that the successful completion of such a development would encourage other developers to use the same methods of supplying water and subsequent adulteration of our natural resources.

"Ulster County waterways such as the famous Esopus Creek, would therefore become prime targets for additional housing projects of this type," he contended.

Snyder said he was not against additional housing and expansion or the added revenues from real estate taxes.

The Department of Environmental Conservation will hold a hearing on the developer's latest application on June 21 at 10 a.m. at the Hunter firehouse.

Skylab Trio to View Disney World

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts were to take a close look at Walt Disney World today as part of a test to determine what effect the new tourist attraction is having on central Florida.

The survey of the Disney World area was to be included on the last earth resources test conducted by astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz. They also planned continuing medical and solar observatory experiments on the 28th day of their 28-day space mission.

The 10th earth resources pass will make geology studies in the Colorado Rockies and Wyoming's Big Horn Mountains, water management assessment in the Great Plains, agricultural surveys in the Midwest, geology and water analysis in Venezuela and land use in Brazil.

But concentration was to be on Brevard County, Fla., home of Cape Kennedy, where two sensor-equipped aircraft were to be in the air to gather data to be compared with that collected by Skylab.

Dr. Verl R. Willmarth, Skylab's earth resources project manager, said Brevard County is an excellent area for land use analysis "because of the impact that Walt Disney World has had there."

Disney World is located 50 miles to the west of Cape Kennedy. Brevard County, like the rest of Central Florida, has felt the boom.

The astronauts Tuesday conducted their first experiments in materials processing, tests that could lead to space manufacturing in orbiting laboratories late in this century.

The unique weightless and vacuum properties of space could produce very strong materials, perfectly round ball bearings, precision optical lens, pure vaccines and other materials not possible to make on earth because of gravity.

Additional processing tests were planned today.

MID EAST OIL WAR — This picture shows part of the Bunker Hunt Oil Company that was nationalized by Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy. Mideast Oil War Heats Up CAIRO (AP) — Libya's nationalization of Bunker Hunt Oil Co. operations "is the beginning of a battle against American interests in the whole Arab region," President Anwar Sadat said Tuesday.

"America must understand that it cannot protect its interests in the Arab region if it continues defying the Arabs by supporting Israel without any calculation," Sadat said in an interview with the Libyan state radio and television. Excerpts of the interview were carried by the official Egyptian Middle East News Agency.

Col. Moammar Khadafy, the Libyan leader who seized power in 1969, announced the takeover of Bunker Hunt operations on Monday. The main stockholder in the Dallas, Tex., company is Bunker Hunt, son of oil billionaire H.L. Hunt.

Khadafy, who has called for a Moslem-based "cultural revolution" in his North African country, said the Bunker Hunt operations were nationalized because of U.S. policies of "imperialism" and support for Israel.

"Libya's decision is a great contribution to our struggle," Sadat said Tuesday.

Antitrust Suit Against Two U.S. Firms

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two big oil companies—one that drills for crude oil and another that refines it into gasoline—say the Justice Department will not be able to prove accusations that they are squeezing independent retailers out of business.

In an antitrust suit filed Tuesday in federal court in New York, the Justice Department accused Texaco of agreeing to provide crude oil to Coastal States Gas Producing Co. in exchange for a guarantee that Coastal States, an independent refining company, would sell a certain amount of its refined gasoline back to Texaco.

"We believe the agreements to be entirely lawful, and we intend to vigorously defend our position," Texaco said in a statement issued from its New York headquarters.

But the Justice Department said the agreement deprives Coastal States of the right to sell refined products to others—including independent marketers who depend heavily on independent refineries.

In Texas, Coastal States issued a statement from its Houston headquarters saying its agreement with Texaco was legal and that the firm would fight the suit in court.

Both companies said the current shortage of fuel was a factor in their agreement.

Coastal States said, "The company does not anticipate any adverse effect on its operations resulting from this litigation, in view of the present demand for its refinery products."

The Texaco statement said its agreement with Coastal States was made "to make available to the consuming public additional supplies of petroleum products."

The statement also said the terms of the agreement had been supplied to the Justice Department a year ago, from selling crude oil to anyone.

The lawsuit asks the federal court to dissolve the agreement and order Texaco to refrain from the refined products of that oil.

Fuchsberg Is Apparent Winner

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The four-way contest for the Democratic nomination for chief judge of the Court of Appeals, apparently won by trial lawyer Jacob Fuchsberg, may end up in the courts.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack Weinstein of Great Neck said he would confer with his lawyers whether to seek court action to force a new election.

His workers contend several vote violations in New York City and upstate.

Fuchsberg, a lawyer in Manhattan, edged Weinstein by 763 votes in complete returns.

The two men ran well ahead of the other two candidates — Justice Francis Murphy of the Bronx, a member of the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, and Supreme Court Justice Irwin Brownstein of Brooklyn.

The totals, which may be adjusted when certified to the Secretary of State: Fuchsberg 243,044, Weinstein 242,281, Murphy 213,673 and Brownstein 81,618.

Fuchsberg, a resident of Rye, has no experience on the bench and was rated unqualified by the New York City and the State Bar Associations. He also had little support from political organizations.

The lawyer put together his apparent victory by spending heavily on advertising. In addition, he had the help of many trial lawyers.

In the tedious counting and recounting of the votes, Fuchsberg dropped behind only once. He ran well ahead of Weinstein upstate and stayed close to him in New York City districts.

The Republican nominee, Associate Judge Charles Breitell of the Court of Appeals, faced no opposition in the June 4 primary.

Bloodshed in Quiet Market Town

BELFAST (UPI) — A 200-pound bomb left in a parked automobile exploded Tuesday in the main street of the town of Coleraine, bringing the bloodshed of Northern Ireland to the quiet market town for the first time.

Six persons, four of them women, died and 34 other persons were wounded in the bombing, the worst single act of terrorism in a year. Nine persons died in a Belfast bombing last year.

In Belfast, an army sentry shot dead a man who jumped over a barricade outside a combined police and army post.

The deaths raised the toll in four years of political and religious strife among Protestants, Roman Catholics and security forces to 824.

The explosion in Coleraine, 50 miles north of Belfast, occurred as children were walking home from school along Railway Street.

It was only the second bomb explosion in the town since the Northern Ireland bloodshed erupted in mid-1969. Two weeks ago, a bomb went off in a Catholic school in Coleraine, they could."

Coleraine is mostly Protestant and was so quiet that no British troops were on duty there.

Police said that 18 of the wounded badly enough to require hospitalization. Among the wounded, police said, were four members of one family.

"As far as I am concerned," a police spokesman said, "it was nothing short of premeditated murder. They were out to kill, maim and wound as many women and children as they could."

A second bomb was discovered in a garage five minutes after the first exploded but a workman warned passersby before it exploded. No one was hurt.

A spokesman for the Social and Democratic Labor party, the biggest Protestant political bloc, blamed the extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) for the bombing.

But there was no statement by the IRA accepting responsibility nor any charge by British security officials to support the Protestant allegations.

Your heart, your health, and your margarine.

A vital message from the makers of Mazola® Margarine.

What many heart specialists say:

Although there is still a lot to be learned about the cause and prevention of heart disease, many heart specialists strongly suggest we limit the saturated fats and cholesterol in our diets. They say there is encouraging evidence that people (even people with an inherited tendency toward heart disease) can substantially reduce the possibility of heart attacks if we plan our diet to control blood cholesterol levels; avoid smoking cigarettes; maintain normal weight; exercise regularly and get medical care if we have diabetes or high blood pressure.

Mazola Margarine
It Makes Sense.

Why we should reduce saturated fats and cholesterol.

One authoritative guide put it this way:

"The typical American diet is rich in eggs, which are high in cholesterol; and meats, butter, cream and whole milk, which are high in animal (saturated) fats. These foods tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood, and a high blood cholesterol level contributes to the development of atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries. Atherosclerosis is the condition that underlies most attacks."

Why we should substitute polyunsaturates.

Heart specialists warn us that it isn't enough to simply avoid saturated fats such as exist in butter or fatty meats.

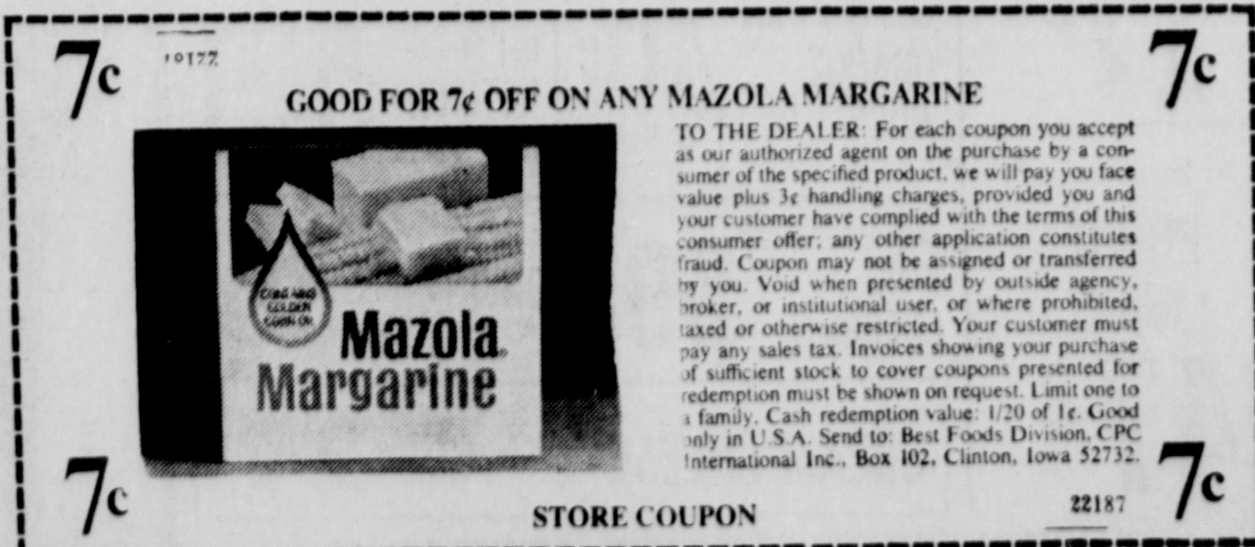

They say we should also actively seek out polyunsaturates (like you'll find in Mazola Margarine or Mazola Corn Oil). That's because such polyunsaturates actually tend to lower the levels of cholesterol in our blood. In fact, they help the body get rid of excessive amounts of newly formed cholesterol. Think about that.

Mazola tastes good.

Chances are, your family will like Mazola better than whatever you're using now. Because the flavor experts at Mazola have developed a special way of taking good, natural flavor (but none of the butter fat) from butter itself. Then they blend these flavor elements with the good light corn oil in Mazola. Which is why no other margarine matches Mazola's fresh, light, buttery flavor.

What you can do. What we can do.

Since Mazola Margarine is high in polyunsaturates, low in saturated fats, and has no cholesterol whatever, it's just good sense to switch. After all, we can't give you the willpower to lose weight, cut down smoking or take up exercise. But we can give you a good tasting margarine that can be a useful part of your overall heart attack prevention program.

Rocky Calls Special Session

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A special legislative session beginning July 23 was called Tuesday by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to deal with the cost-of-living, the gasoline shortage and pensions.

Rockefeller proposed creation of a five-member, bi-partisan Temporary State Commission on Living Costs and the Economy. Rockefeller issued a statement through his Albany office relating to the cost-of-living, gasoline and pension issues.

"The shortage in gasoline, whether real and urgent as the industry claims, or contrived and artificial as skeptics insist, has nonetheless produced sharp increases in costs," Rockefeller said.

"Skyrocketing costs of pensions... threatens the solvency of local governments," the governor declared.

The new temporary commission would supplement existing state groups and would investigate price increases in energy supplies, recommending any necessary action to the governor, the legislature or both, he said.

Farmers see their livelihoods jeopardized, Rockefeller said, "by prospective oil shortage for their tractors and other farm implements."

Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson and Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea disclosed their choices of six members of the Legislature's panel to produce pension reform proposals.

A new law requires the group to report its findings by July 15, 1973.

Anderson appointed Sens. John R. Dunne, R-Garden City, and A. Frederick Meyerson, D-Brooklyn, and Samuel C. Cantor of New Rochelle, senior vice president of Mutual of New York.

Duryea selected Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, R-Woodstock; Julius L. Mintz of Freeport, a member of the state Job Development Authority, and Professor Walter L. Eisenberg of Brooklyn, dean of graduate studies of Hunter College.

Meyerson and Eisenberg were suggested by the minority leaders of the two houses of the legislature.

The six will select a seventh member who will be chairman, Anderson and Duryea said.

The three legislators selected have not been directly involved in earlier pension proposals.

A spokesman for Anderson suggested that the commission will likely compromise between the Kinzel commission recommendations and the provisions in the latest contract between the state and the Civil Service Employees Association.

Eisenberg is a former arbitrator, factfinder and mediator. He served on the panel Rockefeller created five years ago to settle the strike by the sanitation men's union led by John DeLury.

DeLury was the head of the labor union group opposing many of the pension plans which died in the recent legislative session.

Only the topics selected by the governor can be considered at a special session, according to the state constitution.

Mini-Park Plans Gain Approval

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK

Red Hook Jaycees received approval of the Rhinebeck Village Board Tuesday night to proceed with plans to construct a mini-park on village land at the intersection of South Parksonage and North Park Streets.

Jaycees plans, presented by Bruce Pratt, organization president, include the expenditure of $1,400 for playground equipment, tables, and benches along the picturesque Landsmans Kill. The plans have already received Planning Board approval.

Playground equipment will include a 40-foot arch for climbing and a circular ride for children. Park benches and molded chess board tables will be provided, as Pratt emphasized the park would be set up for persons of all ages. Some shrubs and trees are also in the plans.

John Zappe of the Rhinebeck Recreation Commission asked the village board to consider closing East Market Street from Route 9 to Center Street from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Community Day, July 14, for special activities.

He was given conditional approval, pending agreement from merchants and the State Department of Transportation, as Market Street is state route 308. "A Day in Old Rhinebeck" will also be held in conjunction with Community Day, with tours of historic homes and buildings.

The Rhinebeck Senior Citizens Club asked that water rates be lowered for those over 65 who have less than $6,000 annual income, as most use far less than the minimum billing amount.

Mayor Peter Sipperley said that the board will soon re-evaluate all water rates with an eye toward lowering some if possible.

The new East Market Street parking lot must be blacktopped and curbing installed prior to its being opened for public use. It has been graded, and also needs electrical wiring for lights and setting of railroad ties. Some $3,800 of the $4,000 the village set aside for the project has already been used, and funds will be sought from other village accounts for a continuing the project.

Trustee Eugene Trombini noted that Crystal Lake will be pumped full of water sometime this week for summer swimming, and Recreation Director Peter Wexler said the popular village spot would be open for business the weekend of June 23.

The lake will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. during the week, and somewhat longer weekends. Three lifeguards have been retained.

Procaccino To Be Named Commissioner

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Mario A. Procaccino, a Democrat who once served as New York City controller, will be named as state commissioner of taxation and finance, UPI has learned.

Sources said Tuesday that Procaccino will be the successor to Norman F. Gallman, who has served in the commissioner's post.

A spokesman for Governor Rockefeller's office would neither confirm nor deny the report that Procaccino was in line for the $42,475-a-year post in Rockefeller's cabinet.

"When an announcement of commissioner Gallman's successor is ready, it will be announced," the spokesman said.

A Capitol source told UPI, however, that Procaccino, who supported Rockefeller's 1970 reelection bid, would take over the Tax Department when Gallman steps down July 25.

Rockefeller previously had appointed Procaccino to a post on the Battery Park Authority in New York City at a fee of $100 a day for each working day.

Procaccino was the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City in 1969, losing to incumbent Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Gallman, a veteran of 35 years of state service, announced his retirement Saturday. The 63-year-old Gallman had been appointed to the post in 1969 after serving as deputy commissioner and in a number of public relations and public information posts in the tax and motor vehicle departments.

DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT THE TRAVELING SALESMAN WHO GOT A FREE HIGHWAY EMERGENCY KIT WITH HIS NEW CAR LOAN?

"That's a very beautiful emergency kit," said the traveling salesman; "it certainly would be a handsome addition to the new car I'm planning to buy."

"Well," replied the Chase Manhattan loan officer, "anyone who takes out a new car loan from Chase between May 1st and June 30th gets one of these kits free."

The traveling salesman did not want to appear too anxious in front of the banker. "Is it practical?" he asked.

The banker smiled, opened the luggage-like carrying case and began describing the contents.

"An aerosol fire extinguisher, good for all types of small fires, even electrical, oil or grease.

"An aerosol tire inflator, with a latex sealer that inflates and seals flat tires in less than a minute.

"An emergency blinker with a large suction cup base that you can position on your car top or the roadside. It's visible for miles.

"A high-intensity spotlight with a 12-foot cord that plugs into your cigarette lighter.

"Eight-foot booster cables. Six-foot gas siphon pump. A first-aid kit complete with a 25-page first-aid book."

The salesman was amazed. "And you're giving this away? Free? Why it must be worth at least $19.95 retail!"

"Exactly," answered the banker. "You have a good eye for value. Were you ever a banker?"

"No," said the salesman, "I work for a living."

The banker did not laugh. Oh, he was friendly enough, but after all!

"There's only one problem," said the salesman. "I may not be able to pick out the car I want before June 30th."

So the banker told him that if he signed up now, Chase would reserve his car loan for 100 days at no charge. Not only would he get his free highway emergency kit as soon as the loan was approved, but he'd have plenty of time to shop around for a good deal on a new car. So the salesman signed, and left the bank convinced that this was the best car loan deal he had ever experienced.

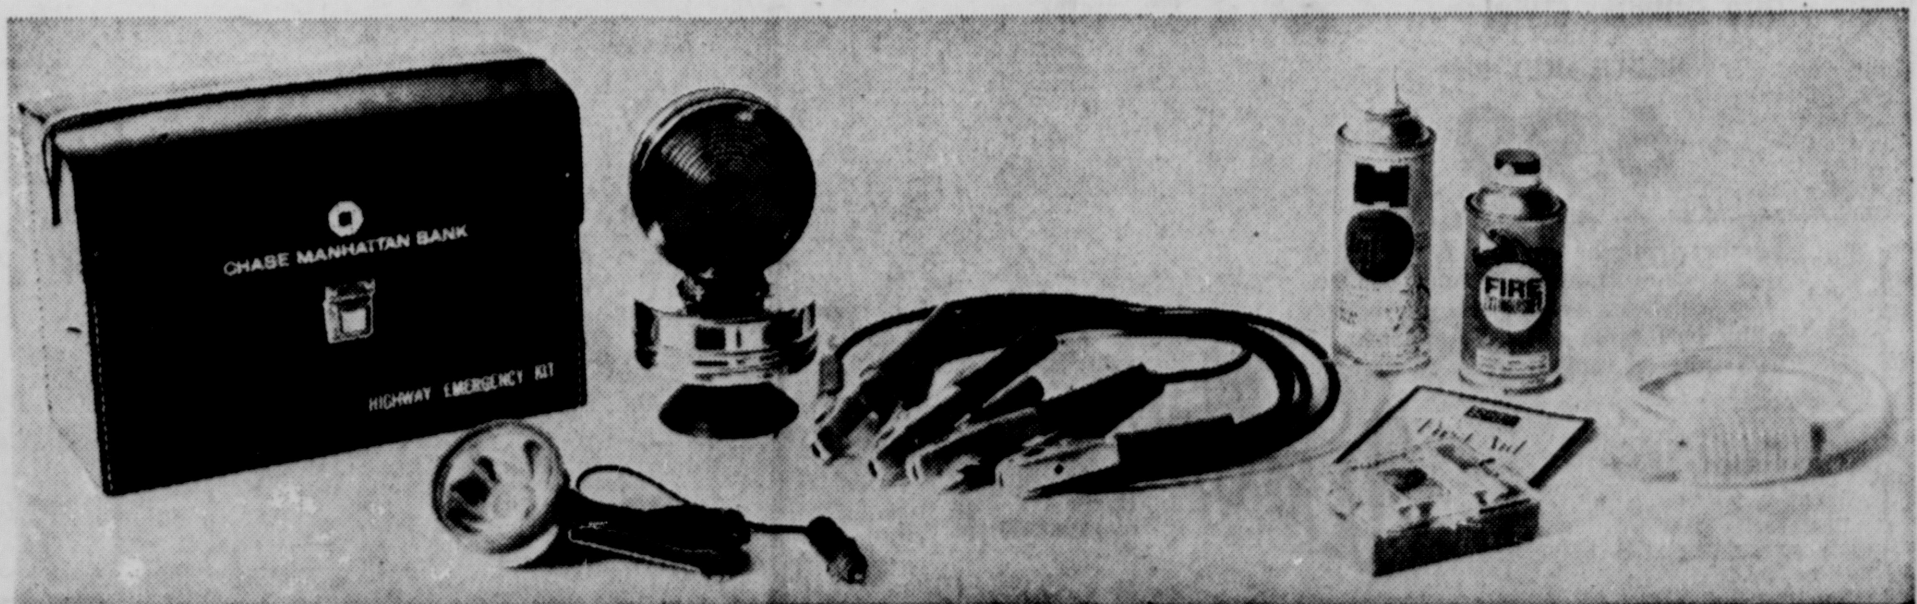

If you're a traveling salesman, doctor, painter or anybody looking for a practical, worthwhile free gift with your car loan, we hope this particular traveling salesman story will make you smile—all the way to our bank.

Alaskan Oil

Editor, The Freeman:
The current "fuel crisis" is being used as political pressure in the trans-Alaska pipeline controversy. The pipeline issue, Senate Bill 1081, will come before the Congress within the next few weeks.

The approval of the trans-Alaska pipeline will not end our present gasoline shortages. It has little, if anything, to do with it. The reason for today's crisis is not the lack of crude oil, but the foolish management of our present oil supplies by major American oil companies and the Nixon Administration. Moreover, Alaskan oil delivered to the west coast can not relieve any gasoline shortages east of the Rockies.

Every consumer should be aware of the facts behind the trans-Alaska controversy. There has always been an alternative which is safer, cheaper, more beneficial to national security, and less harmful to the environment.

It is important to note that the critics of the trans-Alaska route are not ivory-tower purists. They are practical environmentalists, engineers, and economists. They are saying that the Alaskan route is simply the wrong route with the wrong destination. Simply put: If you are going to do something, do it right.

The trans-Alaska pipeline will end at the port of Valdez, Alaska. From there tankers will carry the oil south, through the storm buffeted Prince William Sound and the Gulf of Alaska, to the "lower 48". But the tankers could just as easily sail west to Japan.

(The pipe to be used in the trans-Alaska pipeline has already been bought and delivered. It was all made in Japan.)

The trans-Alaska pipeline route crosses three mountain ranges and the most active earthquake fault in this hemisphere. It also includes at least a 1,200-mile trek by sea-going tankers. All these risks insure an endless number of accidental oil spills.

The better plan is the trans-Canada pipeline corridor. This would be a continuous pipeline carrying both oil and gas from the Arctic to Chicago and Seattle. It would run along the Mackenzie River Valley without crossing any mountains or earthquake faults. The Canadian corridor would cost less, and there would be no chances for the oil to find its way to Japan. There would be much less danger of accidents. The oil would come directly to where it will be needed most.

The trans-Canada pipeline would take the same time to construct as the ill-fated trans-Alaska pipeline. The trans-Canada pipeline would open up vast new oil fields in central Canada, while the trans-Alaska pipeline would service only Alaskan oil fields.

The environmentalists, engineers, economists, and some independent oil companies all support the trans-Canada alternative. It is the better plan. However, the major oil companies have already poured millions of dollars into the trans-Alaska goof. Now the corporations are applying great pressure on Congress to grant an approval to their half-witted scheme.

I hope each consumer will write to his Senators and Congressman to urge a closer look at the trans-Canada pipeline alternative. Otherwise the oil companies will get a blank check approval of the trans-Alaska blunder.

It is high time that most of the people stopped being fooled most of the time.

Very truly yours,
MICHAEL J. MORAN

Fluoridation Bills

Editor, The Freeman:

As an old saying goes, "While the cat is away, the mice will play."

While the public is being bogged down with Watergate, what is happening otherwise in the Senate and House of Representatives? Bills like Senate Bill No. 542 and House Bill No. HR2728 Children Dental Health Act are being acted upon.

The Senate bill contains a section, Grants for Water Treatment Programs, which means millions of dollars for fluoridation equipment for thousands of cities.

The House bill does not contain the section Grants for Water Treatment Programs, but other sections of both bills can be used for promotion (education) of fluoridation. If these bills are passed, they will immediately be called Public Health Act to amend Social Security amendment of 1944. The name, Children's Dental Health Act, is a name given to obtain sympathy and passage by Congress. If the bills were called Fluoridation and Denatal Bureaucracy Bills, they never would pass.

There are five unsettled lawsuits involving fluoridation at present. As time goes by, there will be more.

Dr. Albert Schatz, who with colleagues in Chile, developed a new method of treating human cancer that has attracted world-wide attention is but one of many many courageous men who has spoken out against fluoridation. The science books he has written for schools are considered outstanding by educators in the United States and other countries.

I hope the young people of our community will take a greater interest in fighting fluoridation by water by obtaining and studying literature on the subject.

Move the Library

Editor, The Freeman:

I read in The Freeman that there is a proposal to move the City Library to a new location in more modern surroundings. I think this is the best idea anyone has come up with in ages.

I have used the library facilities for many years and have seen it get dingier and more crowded every year. It has cramped, crowded and dark corners where you have to be an athlete to get a book. To keep two separate buildings heated (with the high cost of oil) and in repair gets more expensive every year.

I hope that people who feel like I do would please let their aldermen know that we need a decent library right now.

Sincerely,
IDA WEINSTEIN

Wage, Price Controls

Editor, The Freeman:

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. is urging President Nixon to "impose a price, profit, wage and rent freeze in a bid to stabilize the present trends in the economy." In the long run such government controls will not work. As a matter of historical fact, they will complicate the problems and make things much worse. Such Control will create a shortage of goods and services, and encourage a black-market. Of course those people who can afford it least, will be hurt the most.

Generally speaking, when the demand for goods and services is greater than the supply, prices will rise. Under normal Free-Market conditions, the only thing that will drive prices down is an increase in the supply. Congressman Fish and other power-brokers in Washington, continue to attack the symptom (rising prices) instead of the cause (short supply) of the problem. These men have all but destroyed any chance of the Free-Market from functioning, thus the problems persist and get worse.

The politicians and bureaucrats caused the problems in the first place.

Helpfulness

Editor, The Freeman:

The members of group 1 of team FID wish to thank you for your kindness and helpfulness during our workstudy field trip to The Daily Freeman. This trip helped to increase our knowledge of and love for Ulster County; it gave us an opportunity to do first-hand research. We will be ever grateful for the support given us in helping in our study of Land Transportation 1673-1973. Sincerely yours, Government programs; government agencies; government subsidies; government protection; government trade agreements; and government favors for special interests, continue to prevent the free-market from functioning. The supply of goods and services will not increase — prices must continue to rise. The men who pretend to be concerned about "the poor" and "the consumer", are the same men who supported the government programs which caused the short supply of goods and services in the first place.

The following is a list of economic problems which have been caused directly, or indirectly by the President, Congress, and a variety of Washington bureaucrats: RISING PRICES for — food and meat; rent; natural gas; fuel oil; gasoline; building supplies; housing; and clothing. The list is longer, but I don't want to bore anyone.

We must seek a society in which individuals are free to run their own lives — not one in which men are ruled by big corporations or by "the state".

Socialist Security

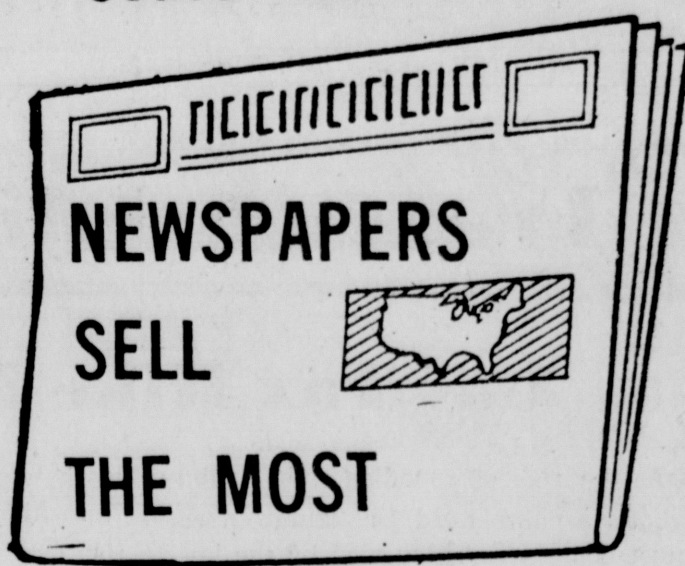

Editor, The Freeman:

The letter by C. C. Saunders in the June 3 SUNDAY FREEMAN about senior citizens serves as a reminder that a recent United States Senate study shows widespread poverty among workers over 65 as these statistics show:
"Start with 100 men, age 25, Forty years later:
One will have $10,000 or more
Four will have $2,000 to $4,000.
Five, with little or nothing saved, will be still working.
Fifty-four will be dependent on relatives, friends or charity.
Thirty-six will be DEAD."

than at 18 — after 50 years of hard work." These are startling figures, to say the least. Even the man with the ten grand is not secure if a prolonged terminal illness strikes. All this confirms the position of the Socialist Labor Party that as long as capitalism prevails, the workers will remain subject to all the hardships of wage slavery in contrast to the few millionaires who enjoy a life of affluence.

Woodland Romo Ends For Elephants

SHREWSBURY, Mass. (UPI) — After romping for 20 hours in a heavily wooded area near here, three 1,000-pound elephants—Whimpy, Rajah and Chang—have been captured.

The three, who probably enjoyed their day of freedom in near 90 degree weather were captured early Tuesday by their handler Michael Rice, who sneaked close enough to grab Whimpy by the ear. The elephants then joined in a procession, linking their tails and trunks, and were led out of the woods.

The elephants, who apparently broke their chains Monday night and headed for the New England equivalent of bush country, left a "mess" in the rural area, but otherwise caused no trouble during the period they roamed free, police said.

"They've only been in this country three months," said Rice, who told police he stopped at a motel Monday night and chained the elephants before he was to take them to a New Hampshire amusement park.

According to Sgt. Howard Ricker, searchers followed waste left by the elephants, who "headed in a southerly direction."

Ricker said, "One fellow said he saw what appeared to be an elephant. He wasn't drinking then, but he had a few afterwards."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 13, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Classified Cambodian documents, smuggled out of Phnom Penh, reveal that Cambodian battlefield commanders have been calling for bombing strikes and strafing attacks on Communist field hospitals. The documents don't specify whether American B-52s and F-111s, or the mosquito-like Cambodian T-28s supplied by the United States are supposed to attack the hospitals. American authorities insist that U.S. planes are barred from hitting hospitals and pagodas.

However, monitored radio messages from U.S. bomber pilots to their observation planes over Cambodia tell a more confusing story. We have examined seven pages of radio transcripts which, indeed, show the pilots genuinely try to avoid hitting pagodas and hospitals. But the pilots often aren't sure whether they are attacking friendly or Communist troops.

"This target has numerous bunker positions," one bewildered pilot calls to his plane. "They told me in this same area are friendly troops that I worked (bombed or strafed) toward earlier this morning, so see what you can find out about that. . . . I can't find out what the friendly situation is down there. . . ."

"Tapped by Blue Chip" The spotter assures the pilot that "this target was tapped by Blue Chip (approved) for us. . . . Still unsure, the pilot replies: "Okay, like I say, it looks all right. . . . But like I said, those friendly who were down there earlier this morning within 500 meters. . . ."

The spotter checks and is back almost immediately with the orders for the bombing run: "Go ahead. . . . 500 pounds maximum, no running east or west, don't hit any structures unless fired upon."

The raids on hospitals, which violate international law, are detailed in official messages written in French and labeled "extreme urgent . . . diffusion rest" — very urgent, restricted distribution.

One pinpoint a town named Phum Khyok in the "first military region" and the lists four targets, three of them military. The fourth is identified as a "hospital with about 40 Vietcong/North Vietnam health personnel." Specifies the Cambodian field commander: "Kindly transmit the order to carry out bombardments of (these) objectives."

Map Coordinates

A second message from Cambodia's "fourth military region" gives map coordinates for a "bombing and strafing" attack on "200 to 250 men, stocks, provisions, PC (command post) and hospital."

A highly-placed diplomat in Cambodia informs us that supervision of the joint Cambodian-U.S. Air Operations Center is entirely in American hands, along with most other air matters.

"The (Americans) tell the Cambodians what to do and the Cambodians do it," the diplomat reports. "The Cambodians couldn't possibly run the center by themselves."

When the Cambodian forces want a strike on a hospital, pagoda or shrine, the diplomat says, the United States refuses to do it, then secretly turns the assignment over to the Cambodian air force "which has no scruples at all, and will go ahead and bomb . . ."

Civilian Casualties

Meanwhile, declares the diplomat, "the B-52s and F-111s are causing enormous civilian casualties (in) hundreds of villages. Just take a boat up the west bank of the Mekong. You will see destroyed villages. . . . totally destroyed by bombing, not mortars. Every one of these targets. . . has been approved by Americans."

Documents in hand, my associate Les Whitten visited the Cambodian embassy here and spoke with officials at length. They did not deny that military commanders might call for strikes on hospitals in the heat of battle, particularly if the hospitals were being used by Communist troops as gun emplacements.

They also contended that the field hospitals are unmarked. The documents in our possession, they pointed out, don't indicate that the hospitals were actually hit.

Any bombing of hospitals is against Cambodian government policy, they said.

Hospital Costs: Congressional investigators have shown us some of their most recent studies on rising medical costs. The studies are not yet completed, but they already confirm what every sick American knows: Medical costs are way out of line.

Doctors like to blame high hospital costs on all the expensive medical equipment hospitals are now using. The truth is, however, that the biggest item on most hospital bills is the price of the room.

Another major problem is unnecessary surgery. Some surgeons, for example, will take out an appendix at the complaint of a bellyache.

The Nixon Administration, meanwhile, is quietly preparing to give the Rand Corporation $50 million over the next five years to study alternative ways of handling a national health insurance program.

Critics of the study, liberals and conservatives alike, are howling that the study will be a waste of time and money. The study will try to measure how different kinds of health insurance plans affect the customers.

As a result, say the critics, the study will neatly sidestep the question every American really wants to know: Why are medical costs going up at the same time that the quality of health care is going down.

Gas Tax Hike Foolish

At the risk of sounding uninformed (that's a polite word for "dumb") we must confess we're puzzled by the latest proposed solution to the nation's gasoline shortage.

From no less a figure than the very powerful and very knowledgeable Secretary of the Treasury Shultz comes the suggestion that the federal tax be increased.

In some magical manner, we are told, this will help us surmount the crisis.

Far be it from us to attempt to match wits and economics theories with such an imposing figure as Mr. Shultz but how in Heaven's name a tax hike is going to help the situation is beyond us.

As we understand it, the theory is that a substantial price increase would discourage use of automobiles, thus reducing gasoline consumption and relieving inflationary consumer demand pressures. It's a great theory but translated into day-to-day practice, we fail to see how it possibly could work.

For one thing the increased taxes would give the federal government more money to spend, thus adding to the inflation cycle rather than reducing it.

Another trouble is that the tax hike would be felt most by the people who least could afford it. The $100 per week wage-earner who lives 10 miles from his job needs his car more than the Wall Street stockbroker.

So that whatever the price of fuel for his vehicle, he must drive to work because mass transit, up to this point, at least, would never fill the bill.

What probably would happen would be the less affluent would continue to buy gasoline but with their incomes impaired, they'd cut down on some other commodity—less expensive food, perhaps, or they might forego medical care. In any event, it's not a happy prospect.

As we see it, a gas tax would be taken in stride by the rich, would be paid unhappily by the hard-pressed middle class and would impose real hardships on the poor. It might mean a redistribution of gasoline supplies but it certainly wouldn't assure any real conservation.

The nation's economists would do well to come up with a more equitable solution. Some helpful ideas already have been proposed such as lowering speed limits, cutting down on engine horsepower, restricting pleasure trips and re-examining antipollution devices.

These do not strike at the heart of the problem any more than a tax hike would, but at least they would not discriminate against any one class and they might provide the extra time needed for new supplies to be developed.

Crippling the Voice

There are more ways than one to skin the cat in Congress. The most often used in skinning the budget so that it cripples the patient, in this case the $224.4 million authorization bill for the U. S. Information Agency, including its Voice of America broadcasts.

Senator J. W. Fulbright sold his Foreign Relations Committee the idea that the cold war is over, and that there is no point in giving USIA $31 million, including $16 million for a transmitter without which the Voice of America broadcasts cannot reach China and Southeast Asia. So this sum was slashed from the authorization.

Perhaps, as Fulbright told his committee, it is an affront to China and North Vietnam and North Korea—the three Communist states in Southeast Asia and their allies—for the United States to broadcast the truth to their people. We think not. It is the truth that persuaded China et al that the United States meant them only peace and created the atmosphere that made President Nixon's "approach to China" possible and successful.

The Voice of America and the semi-private Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty do, for comparatively very little money, much more than apparently the Senate Foreign Relations Committee gives them credit for. We hope the House will be more informed and will not go along with this tragic cut.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — John D. Ehrlichman, one of the most powerful men in America until his resignation from the White House staff April 30, began his political career in 1960 as a political espionage agent for Richard M. Nixon spying on Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and the Democratic national convention.

As an unknown 35-year-old zoning lawyer from Seattle, Ehrlichman was officially listed as a Nixon advance man in 1960 working under his close friend and former UCLA classmate, chief advance man H. R. (Bob) Haldean. In fact, he was an undercover agent stalking Rockefeller's abortive campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Later he was assigned as a secret observer to the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles that nominated John F. Kennedy.

Thus, whether or not the courts finally tie him directly to the Watergate scandal, Ehrlichman's meager political background was in the little-known clandestine side of campaigning. Indeed, as recently as August 1968, when Ehrlichman turned up at the Republican national convention as a high Nixon aide, fellow staffers thought of him mostly as a "security" man.

Ehrlichman made no secret of his political beginnings in a May 1970 interview with William W. Prochnow, then Washington correspondent for the Seattle Times (now an aide to Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington). Because of his anonymity, Ehrlichman said, he was assigned to "operative work" stalking Rockefeller.

For example, Ehrlichman told of driving a Rockefeller car in the Governor's campaign procession in North Dakota — apparently, his June 3-4, 1960, swing through Fargo and several other towns. "The Rockefeller people thought I was from North Dakota, and the North Dakota people thought I was from Rockefeller," Ehrlichman told Prochnow. He enjoyed repeating the same story to friends in Seattle.

Ehrlichman described his undercover duties at the Los Angeles Democratic convention as twofold: (1) to examine attitudes of the Southern delegates; (2) to prepare a dossier on the Kennedy campaign apparatus.

Senate Diplomacy Behind the long Senate

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Uncle Charley Is a Happy Man

Uncle Charley was a pinwheel. When I was a kid, he lived next door and he made a daily check under the bed and in the closets looking for "them." He wasn't a real uncle, but my parents said, "Call him Uncle," so we called him Uncle. He was a small skinny man who wore a belt that went around him one and a half times.

He seldom left the house and I guess he seldom found "them." When he grew old the public authorities took Uncle Charley away and filed him under N. In times of crisis, I drive off to the "Happy College" to bring Uncle Charley a big box of chocolates.

He says he wants a hair transplant but the doctors won't okay it. Also, he wants to work for Nixon, but the orderlies intercept his letters. He's 78, a little old for politics, but he looks around suspiciously and whispers: "I'm the only one who can help them when the bugger gets bugged."

His life is simple. He has a free bed, a roof, three squares and a deck of marked cards. He pays no taxes has no income, no car, no wife, and, as a result of playing poker with the gullible, is owed $211,843.44 by other inmates, not counting interest. He is thinking seriously of buying the nouthouse.

Uncle Charley, I must confess, is a happy man. He loves his little room with the wire mesh windows, and he enjoys the big playroom. He has an old $10.90 radio with a no dialing handle. Uncle Charley says he gets better programs through the fillings in his teeth. The only catastrophe which could befall the old man is a sudden restoration of sanity.

The doctors would have to send him out into the world, and Uncle Charley is no closer to being prepared for that than I am for putting an umbrella on a two and a half billion-dollar Skylab.

He thinks Martha Mitchell should be President. "No secrets," he whispers. "Talk, talk, talk — all the time." I said I doubted she could carry her husband's vote. Uncle Charley said I hadn't changed a bit — still the retarded kid who used to run to the store for nothing.

He makes a convincing point that he's all right, but batty. "It's your generation," he says. "Look what you've done with it. In here, we have law and order. If someone hits somebody, or creates a disturbance, we don't even hold a trial. Boom! — solitary."

I asked Uncle Charley if he ever found "them." No, he said, but he's getting closer. He never told my parents who "them" was, but he knows. Uncle Charley was, in a way, far ahead of his time.

He had "them" zooming in from outer space in flowing capes and hiding in his closets and under his bed. I asked him to eat the chocolates. He gave one to an unsuspecting pal and studied him for a half hour to see it he would fall over dead. Then Uncle Charley ate the whole box.

He wouldn't discuss Watergate. Uncle Charley is behind Nixon one thousand per cent. "If a man is worried that the opposition is leaking his secrets, he has to protect himself." I wondered if Uncle Charley would locate "them" before Nixon. Uncle Charley has been at it longer.

Visiting hours, I said, were nearly up. Was there anything he would like? "A new deck of cards," he said. Some of the simple-minded souls declined to play with the old deck.

He walked me to the big mesh door. A young guard in a pea-green jacket had the key. "A nut," Uncle Charley said. "Completely gone. I played him five hands of stud and won every button off his jacket." He patted me on the shoulder.

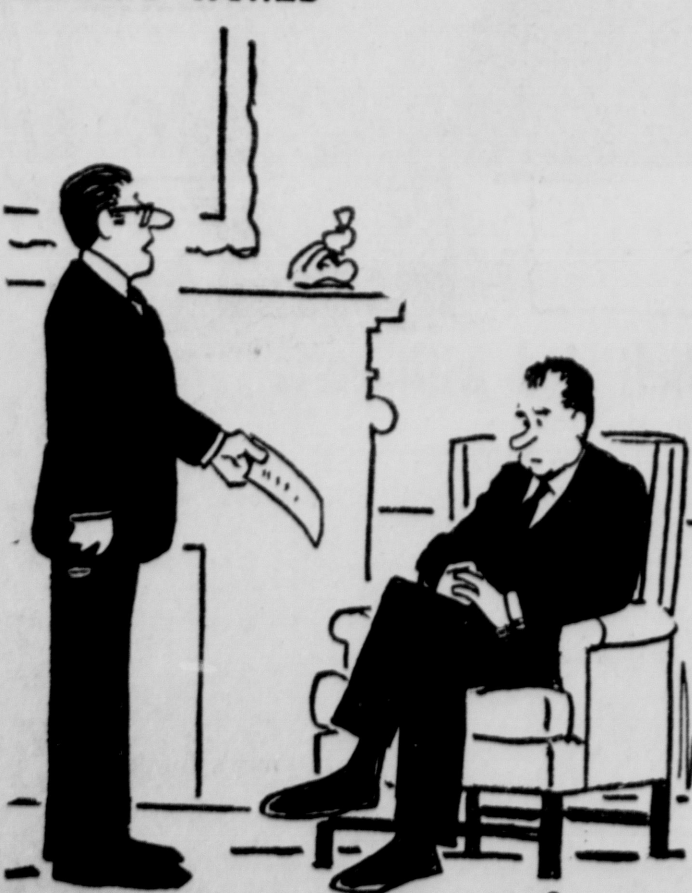

"Be brave," he said. "Go out to your insane world. Grab every buck you can and pay it out in taxes. Get yourself robbed by the butcher. Don't go out at night. Put extra locks on the doors and windows and buy yourself a dog."

"Stop it," I said. "You're not funny." "That," Uncle Charley said, "is another sign of retardation. You think I'm kidding so you say, 'Don't be funny.' The truth is, you have no answer to what I say."

"Millions of your kids are on drugs. The senators who investigate the White House — believe me — have great big skeletons in their own closets. Thanks for the candy, kid. See those bars?" He pointed. "They protect us in our world from your world."

"So long, Uncle Charley. Take care." "I don't have to. I'm taken care of. Always remember, kid. You're an ace in my deck." . . .

BERRY'S WORLD

"We have a new kind of casualty list today, Mr. President—it's for the Watergate people!"

Kiersted Restoration

KINGSTON higher ceilings and a simple grace. The eastern first floor room also had panelling around the fireplace, some of which remains. Sometime during the 19th century, a simple two-story lean-to type addition was built across the back of the house enlarging living space on both floors. This may have been done by a local sheriff who occupied the property with a large family of children. Two later additions also were built at the rear of the house.

The house is identified as the home of Dr. Luke Kiersted, a Kingston physician and presumably his office, as such, was located in the old house. Later his daughter continued to reside there. Kiersted was from a family that originated in colonial New York, many members of which became physicians. In the Kingston-Ulster area alone there were more than six different related Drs. Kiersted.

E. Robert Johnson, president of the Friends of Historic Kingston, pointed out that the restoration of the structure is being done at the direction of the Kingston House Committee of the Friends of Historic Kingston under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth Davenport. Committee members active in the restoration project are Edwin M. Ford, D. William Daron, Herbert Cutler, Harry Halverson, Mrs. W. Anderson Carl, and Johnson as president, ex-officio.

Mrs. Davenport noted that the preservation and restoration of the valuable old Kingston home will be reported periodically. This is the first private preservation project geared to the historic as well as economic welfare of the historic Kingston stockade area. The house, hopefully, will be utilized as a home or office, and will return to city tax rolls. Johnson concluded that The Friends of Historic Kingston seriously consider future similar projects as a strong role in actively maintaining Kingston's historic, economic and cultural heritage.

Stockade Walking Tour

KINGSTON terested visitors into Old Dutch Church, a continuous site of worship since the founding of the Esopus — Kingston area. Guests will see its picturesque graveyard with its notable monument marking the resting place of George Clinton, revolutionary patriot and Governor of New York State. They will see the nearby stone County Court House whose steps mark the site where Governor Clinton was sworn into office.

Tour walkers will tread some of the same thoroughfares that over three centuries have reflected the sights and sounds of Kingston's rich history. Impressive stone residences whose walls were gutted when Kingston was burned by the British and were then rebuilt, are a rich part of the tour, sites familiar in the past to Clinton, Chief Justice John Jay, Colonial Justice Col. Henry Beekman, founding leader Major Thomas Chambers of Foxhall across the Kingston lowlands, U.S. Congressman Peter VanGaasbeek, and John Vanderlyn, famous American artist and Kingston native.

Boy Injured In Mishap

KINGSTON — An 11-year-old boy sustained leg injuries in an auto accident Tuesday night in which a woman was ticketed for driving on a learner's permit without proper supervision.

Michael Knox, 11, of 66 Hunter Street was treated for pains in the right leg at Kingston Hospital and released after allegedly being struck by a car driven by Carmen A. Rosa, 41, of 230 Downs Street on Cedar Street at 6 p. m. last night.

According to City police, Mrs. Rosa was driving east on Cedar Street when she struck a parked car owned by Mary T. Mayone of 75 Cedar Street and then went on to strike another parked car owned by Eugene McSpirt of 280 Main Street. The Knox youth was reportedly playing between the cars at the time of the collision.

Dollar Value on Seesaw, Gold Prices Stable

LONDON (UPI) — The value of the dollar seesawed marginally at the outset of trading across Europe today and gold prices were unchanged as dealers waited for President Nixon's announcement of anti-inflation measures. The dollar rose marginally in Zurich and Frankfurt, but lost some ground in Paris and London. Today, however, dealers predicted trading would remain close. "Traders are cautious," one said. "They don't want to do anything until they hear what Nixon has to say." At mid-morning, gold changed hands on the important London bullion market at $117.50 an ounce, unchanged from Tuesday's close but down from an opening at $118.

Trailer Smashes House, Driver of Rig Dies

EAST DURHAM, N. Y. (UPI)

The driver of a tractor-trailer died today as the rig crashed into the front of a house in this Greene County hamlet. The six occupants of the house, were not injured, state police said.

Troopers identified the driver as Francis P. Clarke, 57 of Heuvelton in St. Lawrence County. They theorized he suffered a heart seizure and lost control of the truck. An autopsy was ordered.

The rig, owned by Aiello Dairy Farms Co. of Heuvelton, went off Route 145 and smashed through the front picture window of the home of George Wyant, his wife and four children.

Wyant's wife, Marie, 34, was sitting in the living room when she heard the truck roaring down on the house and she ran across the room as it burst through the large window. The front wheels came to rest four feet from the chair on which she had been sitting.

Wyant, 40, was shaving in the bathroom, and the children, aged 6 to 13, were asleep in their rooms.

None of the family was injured, troopers said.

Two cars parked in the yard were damaged by the truck.

In Paris, the financial dollar — that used by tourists, speculators and dollar-paid persons living in France — opened at 4.2850-4.2925 francs, down slightly from Tuesday's closing price of 4.3050. The commercial dollar, used in foreign trade, also opened lower — 4.30-4.3050 francs compared to Tuesday's closing price of 4.3125.

In Frankfurt, the dollar opened fractionally higher at 2.6080 German marks, then moved up to 2.6120 by mid-morning. This compared with a Tuesday closing of 2.6060 marks.

The Swiss franc also opened slightly higher today, selling at 3.0710 francs per dollar in Zurich versus a Tuesday close of 3.070.

In London, it cost a trifle more today to buy a British pound — $2.5765 versus $2.5746 Tuesday.

Subdivision Plan Is Resubmitted

ROCHESTER

A preliminary subdivision plan was resubmitted to the Rochester Planning Board by Accord plumbing contractor Sam Bank at its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Bank first proposed the plan in 1968 for the 9.7 acre site on Lucas Turnpike, which is to be subdivided into eight parcels of land of at least one acre each.

The board asked Bank to bring his sketch up to date and supply additional information before it would allow a public hearing.

The board also heard from Arthur Weinstein who had a problem concerning his bungalow colony and had been turned down by the Town Board when he asked permission to rent his land for the occupation of three trailers.

The Planning Board referred Weinstein to the Zoning Board, which will meet tonight, to appeal his case. His bungalow colony occupies only 30 acres of the 80 acres he owns.

The board received a letter from Lymelight Inc., which purchased the Besdesky Hotel on Route 209 and has converted it into a summer camp for slightly retarded brain damaged children.

Lymelight told the board that it is also planning a winter school for 60 students, subject to approval by the State Board of Education. The Planning Board has requested Lymelight to submit plans for proposed new buildings and the other new buildings already in use.

Statements Are Answered

KINGSTON

Tenants Rights Organization spokesman Edward Brown took issue today with statements made Tuesday by housing authority Chairman George E.

Yerry Jr., saying that if Yerry "knew his law" he would know that "all" tenants in federal housing are entitled to rent rebates on rent in excess of 25 percent of their income, not just welfare recipients.

Brown is also demanding that cash be paid the tenants instead of rent credits which he claims have already been given in some instances. He said he was told May 3 by a Housing Authority official that tenants would only be eligible for credit, not cash.

Brown also stated that none of the federal housing tenants knew of the Brooke Amendment, which specifies the rent limitations before the Tenants Rights Organization was organized May 2.

Man Charged With Holdup

HURLEY

State Police have arrested Martin E. Murtagh, 32, of Clifton Park, N.J. and charged him with first degree robbery in the armed holdup of the Ridge Liquor Store in West Hurley on June 1.

BCI Investigators Fred Grunewald and Edward Whalen, acting on a tip, arrested Murtagh Tuesday afternoon at a hospital in Albany where he was a patient. (Police did not release the name of the hospital).

Murtagh was arraigned before Town of Hurley Justice C. H. Dumond where he waived preliminary examination and was committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail.

Grand jury action is pending. Police allege that on the night of June 1, about 8 p.m., Murtagh entered the Ridge Liquor store brandishing a revolver and made off with an estimated $400 in cash.

Two Firms Work on Oil Spill

BEACON, N.Y. (UPI)—Two firms, hired by the federal government, labored today to clean up a 10,000-gallon oil spill in the Hudson River.

A Coast Guard spokesman said 40,000 to 60,000 gallons of heavy No. 6 heating oil had leaked from a storage tank at an abandoned brick works, but only 10,000 gallons got into the river. The leak, which had been going on for sometime, was discovered June 6 at the old Denings Point Brick Works. The plant ceased operations about five years ago and, at that time, the storage tank held 75-

000 gallons of the fuel, authorities said. The Coast Guard said a cap had been removed from a check valve in a pump house, causing the leak. There was no explanation of why the cap was removed.

The Dutchess County sheriff's office said more than $100,000 damage had been done to several yachts docked in the river, at the Chelsea Yacht Club and at White's Marina in New Hamburg.

Sea-Land Environmental Corp. and Roadway Construction, two national firms, were given the job by the Environmental Protection Agency of cleaning up the spill. They placed booms in the river and were skimming off the oil, but the job was not expected to be completed before Friday.

Total cost of the work was expected to reach $30,000.

Open Auditions Scheduled at UCCC

STONE RIDGE open, Lawson said, and will be cast from those auditioning June 14 as well as those who auditioned June 11 and 12. The Ulster County Community College's major summer production of "Oklahoma!" director John Lawson said today.

Adults, college students and high school students may try out for the show's numerous acting, singing and dancing roles at the added night of auditions, Thursday, June 14, at 8 p.m.

All parts in the show are open, Lawson said, and will be cast from those auditioning June 14 as well as those who auditioned June 11 and 12. The Ulster County Community College's major summer production of "Oklahoma!" director John Lawson said today.

The show goes into rehearsal on June 18, and all rehearsals will be held in the evenings. It opens July 27 for a six-night run.

The production will involve a large cast, including singing and non-singing roles, dancers and a mixed ensemble that sings the show's title song.

Earl Proper, musical director, has already assembled a 14-piece orchestra and is looking for trained voices for most of the principal roles. The ensemble may include singers without formal training, though he said.

The production also includes a ballet, and trained dancers as well as those without formal training are being sought for that, according to Lawson. Members of the show may participate on either a credit or non-credit basis.

ONTEORA BAND AWARD — Harry Simon (L) director of the Onteora High School Band receives congratulations from Dr. Frank Marlow, superintendent of schools. The annual competition is sponsored by the New York State School Music Association. This is the 14th time the Onteora High School Symphonic Band has attained this high honor.

Ulster BOCES Schedules Annual Awards Assembly

Today,
88 million
adult Americans will drink
a cup of coffee.

But 102 million will read a newspaper.

For most people, reading a newspaper is an indispensable part of everyday life.

77% of us, 18 and over, read a newspaper on the average weekday, according to a recent nationwide study by Audits & Surveys, Inc.

And newspaper reading is such an ingrained habit that over a five day period, 89% of us read at least one newspaper and the average reader sees 4.3 issues. In other words, just about every one of us reads the newspaper just about every day.

On the average we spend 30 to 40 minutes with each paper we read, and we go through it so thoroughly that we open and read something on 84% of the pages.

We get involved with the newspaper, too. We quote from it, write letters to it, clip articles and ads out of it, buy things by mail on its say-so, and talk about what we've read in it. 93% of all readers have done these things at one time or another. Just about everybody.

So if you're an advertiser and your problem is to find a sure way to reach everybody every day, you've got the answer in hand. The daily newspaper.

Equipment Donated to SHS

SAUGERTIES High School is several pieces of equipment richer as a result of a donation by Ferroxcube Corporation of Saugerties.

"Just like Christmas for the science department" is the way Dan Lee, Saugerties High principal put it as he and Roy Ohno, head of the science department, accepted the equipment.

Ferroxcube items donated include a Tektronix oscilloscope, three microscopes, a Fisher balance, two Simpson transistor testers, a calculator and a heating mantle. Ohno was particularly pleased with the oscilloscope which is much more sophisticated than a high school lab can normally afford, it was noted.

Making the donation on behalf of Ferroxcube was Jim Robinson, vice-president and general manager, who said:

"I'm delighted to find that equipment which we have replaced by new types can be put to good use right here in our own community."

"Equipment of this type," he added, "brings only a fraction of its real value when sold second hand. Far better to know that our Saugerties High students will get the benefit of it," he concluded.

Operational by December Ferroxcube Expanding Plant

SAUGERTIES Ferroxcube Corporation has announced that a major plant expansion program is now underway which will bring the total square footage of plant facilities in Saugerties to 132,800 and increase production of linear ferrite products by one third.

The $250,000 construction program, now underway, will include a new 5,600 square foot building, a new sintering kiln and a new tray dryer.

The new facility is scheduled for completion by September and the new equipment will be completely operational by December 1973.

Founded as a joint venture of Sprague Electric and North American Philips in 1949, Ferroxcube began as a supplier of ferrite products for the television industry. For the next 11 years the company was located on Mill Street in Saugerties.

By 1961, the company's activities had spread into the field of professional ferrite products for the telecommunications industry.

It was in 1961 that Ferroxcube moved into the first of the company's modern plant buildings on the 32-acre site on the east side of the New York Thruway.

A second plant expansion was made in 1963 as the use of ferrite products became more and more important to the computer industry.

Today, Ferroxcube products are used in an ever-larger variety of applications including computers, telephones, and a host of other consumer electronic items such as automotive ignition systems, home video tape recorders, power and lighting systems for recreational vehicles, electronic watches, and electronic flash systems for cameras.

According to Ferroxcube Marketing Manager, John Turnbull, the wide diversity of applications for Ferroxcube products in today's marketplace has greatly broadened the company's marketing base which will contribute to steady growth in the future.

Nixon, Brezhnev Are Preparing For Strange Summit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This will be a strange summit. It shapes up like a meeting of frustrated giants, with enough bewildering imponderables to confound platoons of experts, and the peace it promises is a strange sort of peace. President Nixon and General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev head the most powerful nations in history, each weakened by persistent and perplexing trouble. When they meet in Washington beginning June 18, each will be acutely aware of both his own and his adversary's vulnerability.

Brezhnev is familiar with the current deep embarrassment of the President, although the Soviet press has been uncharacteristically polite about Watergate. Undoubtedly the thought has crossed Brezhnev's mind that the scandal has weakened the President and made him the more eager for something suggesting brilliant success in the cause of peace. But while Moscow might see disarray in Washington as a windfall and an opportunity to tailor prices accordingly, it must also consider its own problems. President Nixon is aware that the Soviet Communist chief, too, needs success to show for his efforts and the risks he has taken. Indeed, Brezhnev could be regarded as the more vulnerable. He has the role of supplicant. He wants many things involving his hopes for the Soviet consumer economy. He is just as committed as the President to a measure of agreement on strategic arms. He probably wants relaxed tension in the West to relieve him a pressure there and give him elbow room in dealing with the vexatious problem of China. In addition to all that, he has the problem of squaring ideology with his policy of detente. Brezhnev must rationalize his dealings with the leader of what the Kremlin calls "the citadel of imperialism." He must assure his colleagues and Communists elsewhere that he won't let peace go too far. On the other hand, while Washington publicly welcomes detente, the United States seriously warns its Atlantic allies that the new look could evaporate overnight, that a Soviet military threat remains and a high level of defense readiness remains essential. The obligatory jargon that accompanies Kremlin thrusts makes appraisal of this summit's prospects difficult. The question arises whether — or how much — Moscow believes what it says publicly. The Soviet press frequently recalls that the present policy of peace was approved by the 1969 international Communist meeting in Moscow and the 24th Soviet Communist Congress in 1971. Thereafter Moscow has repeatedly insisted the policy would insure "favorable external conditions for Communist building in our country." That seems to mean detente is necessary while the Soviet Union builds its economy. Recently Izvestia, the organ of the Soviet government, told world Communists the policy "helps to a large extent to create a situation leading to intensification of revolutionary processes in various parts of the world and radicalization of the masses." That seems to tell the movement: "Be patient, your turn is coming."

Listen Veteran: GI Bill Deadline

KINGSTON 1966. Thus, they must complete training within eight years of release, or by the May 31, 1974 deadline, whichever is later. The deadline does not apply to veterans who were discharged from military service between Jan. 31, 1955 and June 1, 1966. Unless this category of veterans begin training soon, they could lose part or all of their educational benefits. Benefits for these veterans were not authorized until enactment of the current GI Bill on June 1, 1967.

PLANNING TO ATTEND COLLEGE, OR A TRADE OR TECHNICAL SCHOOL in the fall? Then there's not time like the present to consult with a State Veteran Counselor and establish your entitlement to financial assistance under the GI Bill. If you're a veteran with service since Jan. 31, 1955 while you're studying.

See: Charlie Culver, State Veteran Counselor today. INFORMATION on all veterans benefits may be obtained from the local counseling center of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs located at the County Office Building, Kingston, Telephone 331-9300 Ext. 287.

Candidate Wants Traffic Action

TOWN OF ULSTER Immediate action to correct "a major traffic hazard" at the Chambers Elementary School in the Town of Ulster has been called for by Kenneth R. Dargis, Democratic candidate for the Ulster County Legislature in new District 2.

Dargis urged the Ulster Town Board to take action concerning what he calls hazardous conditions in which turning school buses are exposed to cross traffic from both Rt. 9W and Morton Blvd.

KENNETH R. DARGIS

"When you consider that the town has had the school board's permission since September 1972 to correct this deficiency, it becomes inconceivable that this hazard still exists," Dargis said adding that he could not imagine any circumstances which would prevent the town from considering the safety of children first.

"I just can not understand why these children have to be exposed to daily danger. How many more school buses have to be involved in accidents before those entrusted with children's safety will act?"

Dargis pointed out that he has heard numerous rumors as to why the Town Board has failed to act in this situation. "It is unfortunate that in today's political atmosphere people are actually giving these rumors credibility! In order to stop these rumors and maintain their credibility it is imperative that the Town Board take immediate action to protect our children."

Dargis said he is issuing a personal appeal for the parents of children attending Chambers School to join him at Thursday night's meeting of the Town Board at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Office.

"I would appreciate everyone's support in this important matter," he said.

The new District 2 is comprised of the Town of Ulster and the Town of Kingston.

Secret Sound?

Someone told us that the Secret Sound is that of Harry Thayer building pigeon crates. Rumor has it that he wants to send them to the State Legislature . . . to show them what he thinks of the current lull. If you guess the Secret Sound correctly, Harry will be sending you a lot of money!

Probe Underway Over Alleged State Shortage

Grim Prediction... 300 Gas Stations to Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Charles Latorella is one New Yorker with many questions about the apparent gasoline shortage.

And Latorella, who is heading the state's investigation into the gas crisis, predicts that some 300 New York state gas stations will close soon unless some action is taken. He said more than 20 stations have already closed while a large number have cut back the hours they operate.

"We'd like to know why there is an alleged shortage in New York State which is very well supplied with petroleum facilities," he said. "The more we get to know about this, the more puzzled we are."

Latorella is the assistant attorney general in charge of monopolies and antitrust division.

The major oil companies have been cutting back deliveries to some stations, claiming their action is necessitated by a gas shortage. But some say the action is an attempt to eliminate competition by forcing the independents out of business.

Paul Nelson, president of the independent Petrol Oil Corp. in Albany, said all nine of his stations were forced to close because of a cut-off. He accuses the majors of conspiracy in forcing small independents out of business.

"I feel like Adolph Hitler in his private bunker in the last days... It's an unreal situation," he said. "I think the government is going to have to make the oil and gas allocation law mandatory if they want to protect the small dealer."

Just last Wednesday the U.S. Senate passed legislation that would require President Nixon to develop a mandatory national fuel-allocation formula. The measure is designed to ensure that all sections of the country receive fair shares of available fuel products. It is also an attempt to prevent major oil companies from shutting off fuel supplies to independent refineries and distributors.

A recent bill would have mandated that any allocations be made during a shortage in New York State be made equally without discrimination. But that bill never reached the Assembly floor.

U.S. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-Amsterdam, is sponsoring a bill that would also require equal allocations during a period of cut-backs.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has suggested an interstate compact which would reduce speed limits to 55 miles an hour as a means of easing the reported shortage.

Noting that fuel consumption increases with speed, Rockefeller said a state transportation department study has determined that a 55-mile-an-hour speed limit would save some 1.4 billion gallons a year. But the governor's suggestion was not accepted at last week's national governors' conference in Nevada.

"My own feeling," Stratton said, "is that we probably don't have a shortage at the moment but the margin of surplus is very small; therefore any sharp increase in demand this summer... could create a shortage. For that reason people are getting a little bit nervous in advance."

Over the weekend, an interdepartmental task force warned that August's shortage of gasoline throughout the state and nation. The task force predicted a shortage of 2.5 percent which it said would create no great hardships if it were spread out over the entire summer.

But the report warned that if gasoline supplies are depleted in the early part of the summer, there could be a severe shortage in late August. Most representatives of the major gas companies insist the shortage is real.

"I can categorically tell you it (the shortage) is getting critical a condition at the present time."

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Buffalo regional office of Exxon's financial services manager said, "We never announced anything about a gasoline shortage. We do anticipate that the situation is going to be basic economics."

"The industry has been tight," a spokesman for the United Refinery Capacity for Gasoline Retailers Association said, while demand or consumption was 45,878,000 barrels. "It's just that all of a sudden the sector of the state is 'in not too'."

For the week ending June 1, however, gas production was running 3.5 million barrels (42 gallons per barrel) per week ahead of the corresponding period last year.

Production hit 49,351,000 barrels for the week, Latorella said, while demand or consumption was 45,878,000 barrels.

"We know the demand has increased tremendously, but received no bids to supply gas nationwide allocations. The 33 gas stations on the New York Thruway are now limiting customers to 10 gallons per stop due to mandates from five major companies."

Agway, Inc., a diversified company owned by 110,000 farmers in 12 northeastern states, said it appears it will have enough fuel supplies to handle the needs of its present customers but that it is not encouraging new ones because supplies are tight.

In recent weeks, a number of major companies have initiated

Harvey Travis, assistant director of information for the Thruway Authority, said Thruway motorists have not encountered major difficulties due to the new restrictions.

"But they're watching their gas gauge a little closer," he added.

Court Ruling Aids Clean Air

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—any groups took the matter to court, arguing that the law's stated purpose of "enhancing and protecting" air quality meant that the EPA could not allow degradation of the air anywhere. With Monday's decision, they won their case.

Under the EPA's previous interpretation, an industry in the heavily polluted Buffalo area, where air-pollution rules have to be strict to meet the air-quality standards, would have had an incentive to move to a clean-air region like coastal South Carolina, where the pollution laws would not have had to be as strict.

But under the new ruling, the air-pollution control laws will have to be approximately as strict in clean-air areas as in polluted areas, because only strict controls will insure that the air will not get dirtier. So the incentive to move no longer exists.

James Biggane, executive deputy commissioner of the state Department of Environmental Conservation, said "to that extent the decision is a plus for this state."

The ruling arose out of an ambiguity in the federal Clean Air Act of 1970, which set minimum air-quality standards for the amount of pollution which can be allowed in the air.

The EPA had interpreted the law as allowing the air in the clean-air areas to get dirtier, as long as it got no dirtier than the law's standards allowed.

Silent Epidemic Of 'Love Drug'

CHICAGO (UPI)—A New York potential for producing dependence and causes a severe withdrawal syndrome. "In light of past experience, we can expect an imminent increase in intravenous use, overdose and suicide attempts with this drug," he wrote.

Four staff members of the Haight-Ashbury Free Medical Clinic in San Francisco, reporting in the same issue of the AMA Journal, said they concluded "that methaqualone abuse and addiction is qualitatively equivalent to that of the short-acting barbiturates."

The group also questioned promotional claims of the sedative, and said they did not "find it superior to other sedative-hypnotics already flooding the market."

Pascarelli reported, "The abuse of methaqualone as a 'downer' or 'soper' has increased elsewhere indicates that the drug has a marked silent epidemic."

Dr. Emil F. Pascarelli of Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, reported Sunday in the Journal of the American Medical Association that use of the drug has increased markedly.

"Sales of an estimated $3.4 million in 1970 have now reportedly doubled," Pascarelli said. "In one eastern university, as many as 5,000 pills are said to be sold illicitly in the single day."

Pascarelli said methaqualone abusers are caught up in its "love drug" mystique and in seeking a dissociative "high" become oblivious to its dangers. He said experience in Europe and elsewhere indicates that the drug has a marked silent epidemic.

Health Board Discusses Programs

LAKE KATRINE county who has a question concerning the operation of the board of directors of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health recently attended the first board meeting of the new session, at the Lake Katrine summer home of Mrs. Frieda H. Dingee.

A number of newly elected directors were present including Mrs. Stanley K. Coffman, Amos Sunshine and John VanNess, New Paltz; the Rev. George W. Baker, Dr. Milton Chasin, Mrs. Ethel Forst, Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Jr., Mrs. Muriel Landesman, Mrs. Neil N. Whitehurst and Michael K. Wood, Kingston; John Panzica of Lomontville and Edward J. Trnka, Saugerties.

Mrs. Kathryn Cambone of Highland, vice-president, presided. The Association is a member agency of the United Way of Kingston.

Program recommendations were discussed. Broad program priorities were considered for the coming year, resulting in one group being set up to look into the needs of young people in the community, to be convened by Sunshine; and another group, chaired by Dr. Chasin, to examine the ways in which public understanding can be increased, of the extent of, causes and correction of learning disabilities among children. The Comparative Study of the mental health services of surrounding counties was also approved as a project of the Association. This is being coordinated by Mrs. Patricia K. Reppert, of Woodstock.

Mrs. Landesman, who was recently appointed to the Board of Visitors of Hudson River State Hospital, described the purpose and functions of the visitors. The Board is empowered to investigate complaints, inspect facilities, and make recommendations to Governor Rockefeller and Dr. Allan Miller, State Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, regarding affairs and management of the hospital. Board of Visitors also serve as a link between the community and the hospital. As the representative from Ulster County, Mrs. Landesman may be contacted by anyone in the concluding paragraph is worth who pioneered for community special note: "The Clinic has mental health services in Ulster County much of his life. Mrs. Henry Millionig, coordinator of the project, is looking into ways of securing a small upright Steinway piano. The possibility of having to select chamber music recital at a private home to secure the additional amount needed for the memorial fund, was considered. However, it is hoped the Association will learn of a suitable used piano for purchase, which would eliminate the music therapy at the Day Hospital of the Mental Health Center, as a fitting memorial, placed in several local newspapers, to the late Dr. Edward F. Area Student Wins District Contest

KINGSTON Marion Mowle, a student at George Washington School, won first place in the broad jump for girls 13 to 15 years of age at the District 6 Special Olympics held recently at Dietz Stadium in Kingston.

She will go with 19 other students in Educable and Trainable Classes in Ulster County to participate in the New York State Special Olympics which will be held on the campus of the State University College at Cortland on the weekend of June 15.

The Special Olympics, co-sponsored by New York State Jaycees, New York State Association of Teachers of the Mentally Handicapped, and the Kennedy Foundation, is a countywide annual event for children in classes for the mentally handicapped.

Local officials expressed thanks to those who aided in making the local competition a success, especially teachers, A.R.C. Youth Groups, Mrs. Dorothy Hughes, chairman, and her club leaders, and the physical education staff of Kingston High School headed by Joseph Defino.

Glaucoma, Diabetes Tests Given

ELLENVILLE Sixty-seven people from the Ellenville-Kerhonkson area were tested for glaucoma and 60 for diabetes at the first Glaucoma-Diabetes Detection Clinic sponsored jointly by the Kerhonkson Lions Club and Ellenville Community Hospital recently.

Approximately one quarter of those tested for diabetes will be referred for further testing or medical treatment, while four of those tested for glaucoma will be referred for medical follow up.

Four individuals signed up as eye bank donors in the Lions Club Eye Bank Program.

"The early detection of glaucoma and diabetes is important since medical treatment can be helpful," noted Evald Bors Koefoed, hospital administrators. "This type of screening program is a real community service. It also points up the need for periodic testing."

The testing clinic was made possible, according to Koefoed,

New York Previews For Fall and Winter

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fashion message for fall and winter is "think big".

Big shapes to the clothes are the big news, especially in oversized versions of all-time favorites such as the sweater sets, caftans, the trenchcoats, tents, sweeping evening coats, the big amounts of fur trims, especially the long-haired foxes and lynxes.

But don't stop dieting. The idea is that the big clothes are crafted to make the woman look fragile by comparison. It's the old optical illusion at work. Proportion is everything, so the style makers say the shape must be followed through with the right accessories and the right colors.

Yes, this means that the big, chunky platform shoes, the bulky jewelry will go into the new season too.

Think big sleeves, blouses, broader shoulders, shawl wrap collars, exaggerated turtlenecks and evening cloaks with yards of fabric.

This forecast comes from the New York Couture Business Council, which today began a series of showings of the new collections of ready-to-wear and accessories. It's the council's 61st national "Press Week", a semi-annual event for some 200 visiting reporters.

When the council series ends Thursday, the editors will bus to Spring Lake, N.J., for a look at men's fall fashions, courtesy of the Men's Fashion Association of America. Then it's back to New York Monday, June 18, for another week of women's wear collections from the American Designers Group.

The council's wrapup of trends cites the roomy coat as one of the big new shapes, designed to fit over everything from suits to dresses to pants. These include the raincoats with flared, tent shape, fly front and zip-in lining.

Trenchcoats, in menswear fabrics, feature wider sleeves and shoulders. The so-called Inverness coat, worn over a thick sweater, sports a detachable cape.

Roomy wrap coats in thick fleeces and plaids have dropped shoulders. Capes swing over everything in lodens, in reversible plaids and stripes.

Some of the greatest of greatcoats come from Geoffrey Beene, especially in his evening collection. Long, sweeping white cashmeres come with flared sleeves, almost cape-shaped.

For those who still want clothes closer to the body, the look to follow is the velvet-collared riding coat. Skinny, long cadigans and pencil-slim coats with detachable capes are other narrow fashion routes.

Sweater jackets are the "in" ones for fall, as designers continue on their knits kick. They show up in bulky, big such fisherman knits, mohairs and jacquards.

Sweaters themselves are looser and the big look for fall is the patterned set, with the cardigan stretched below the hips so call it the fanny sweater, its inside mate waistlength or with a defined ribbed waistline.

Teacher's Article Is Published

Mrs. Sandra Schirmer, Earth Science teacher at Rondout Valley High School, has had an article published in the June issue of Home Life, a national Baptist publication. The article discusses Early Elementary School Failure and how to combat it.

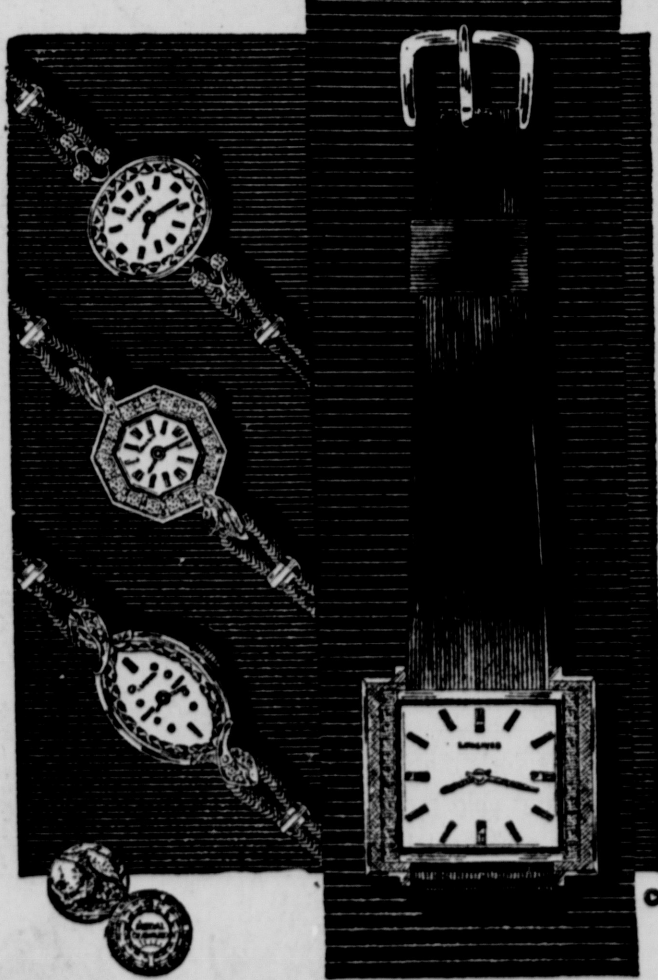

Mrs. Schirmer has had extensive experience in elementary education. In her article, she cites such reasons for early elementary failure as immaturity and slower intellectual growth, and suggests ways to provide a more creative curriculum that would help correct the problem.

The current article is the second Mrs. Schirmer, a free lance writer, has had accepted. Previously she and her husband, Lee Schirmer, sold an article to Travel magazine.

TAKING TIME OUT during rehearsals for the upcoming PAW premiere performances of three original compositions by area musicians are (L-R) Cyril Castor, vocalist and composer; Ellen Faber, soprano; and Pat Cummings, alto and pianist. The dinner and concert is planned for this Saturday.

PERFORMERS for the PAW concert Saturday will include also (L-R) Sandy DuBois, soprano, and Jean Davidson, soloist. The evening will be marked with music, dinner, wine and merriment. The audience will be given an opportunity to meet both the performers and composers.

Festive PAW Party Planned

The Performing Arts of Woodstock (P.A.W.) will be celebrating the birth of its new music wing, the Woodstock Ensemble, with a festive evening of music, dinner, and wine. The dinner and concert will be held at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Route 212, in Woodstock, on Saturday evening, June 16th. Included in the concert are the premiere performances of three original compositions by area musicians.

The Woodstock Ensemble began as a choral group which evolved under the direction of Fu Uyan Soong to include instrumentalists. The recent affiliation of the group with P.A.W. will mean not only a richer variety of musical presentations in the Woodstock area, but also more live music in combination with other P.A.W. functions.

A dinner of international flavor will be served from 7:30 to 8:30 in St. Gregory's reception hall. At 8:30 the center of attention will move into the church proper where the Woodstock Ensemble will present an hour of musical entertainment. The concert includes six 4-part Elizabethan madrigals and three original compositions by local composers: "An Earthly Farewell" by Cyril Castor (written for chorus, violin, flute, and cello), "Prelude Waltz and Finale" by Terry Champlin (for chorus, violin, cello, and flute), and "Temple Piece" by Dwight Wilson (for chorus, piano, cello, and violin).

Moussaka Greek salads and wine will be served at dinner while Baklava with black coffee will be served after the concert. This will afford the audience a chance to meet both the performers and composers.

Disciplining Can Dial Trouble

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a misunderstanding among myself, my husband, and my mother concerning my 7-year-old son? Dickie loves to talk to his grandmother (my mother) on the telephone, and occasionally, as a disciplining measure, we deny him that privilege.

When the phone rings, if I don't get it before Dickie and it's his grandmother, he tells her that he's not allowed to talk to her.

My mother gets upset because she feels she should be able to talk to her grandson when she calls. She even suggested that if she should die suddenly and Dickie hadn't been allowed to talk to her, he would hold it against my husband and me. She asked me how I would feel then?

My husband and I think we have a right to discipline our son as we see fit, but since my mother brought up this dying business we aren't so sure. Thanks for any help you can give us.

DEAR CONFUSED: Surely you and your husband can discipline your son in some other way. By denying him the privilege of talking to his grandmother, you are punishing her, too. But he's your son so YOU make the rules. And don't let grandma blackmail you with talk of sudden death and ensuing guilt.

DEAR ABBY: All of a sudden my sister in law stopped speaking to me, and being a sensitive person I wanted to know why, so I asked her. She said: "I'll be honest with you. When you asked us for the plans of our house, we gave them to you, not dreaming you would make yours a carbon copy of ours, including the landscaping, the fence, and lawn furniture. Then you had to get a car like ours. And now you are planning to vacation the same place WE vacationed last year, and that is the last straw."

I was shocked, if they didn't want us to have the same kind of house, they should have said so. Instead, they acted honored. Our car is a

INDIVIDUAL Fresh California Plum Cobblers are almost too pretty to eat . . . but not quite.

Fresh Plum Cobblers

Here's a special summertime dessert that will please everyone: hungry children, sweet-toothed pie fanciers, and even the cook, herself.

It's an old-fashioned cobbler made with the fresh California plums coming into our markets. That refreshing plum tartness is set off perfectly by a sugar crust and a spoonful or two of cream. And this cobbler recipe is super simple, puts itself together in a flash and promises to satisfy everyone. What a great way to start enjoying plums this summer.

Plum growers say that some 20 major varieties will be shipped from California where over 90 per cent of the nation's plum supply is grown. You'll be able to experiment with different flavors in your cobbler baking all summer.

Nubiana, Queen Ann, Laroda, Wickson, El Dorado and Kelsey are excellent pie plums. And, of course, in addition to taking advantage of their baking and cooking qualities, you'll want to buy plenty of extra plums for healthful, out-of-hand snacking. Here are a few simple ways to enjoy your plums:

Serve plum halves filled with cream cheese balls rolled in nuts; toss plum slices into your favorite fruit salads; drizzle a zippy plum sauce over pancakes, waffles, pound cake, rice pudding or ice cream. Since a good-sized plum averages only about 33 slender calories, it's easy to rationalize a small plum splurge now and then!

For more exciting ways to use and serve fresh fruits this summer, send a stamped, self-addressed business-size envelope to "FRUITS OF SUMMER," P.O. Box 4640 Sacramento, CA 95825.

Deep Dish Plum Cobblers

One and one-fourth cups sugar

Two and one-half tablespoons cornstarch

One-fourth teaspoon salt

One-fourth teaspoon cinnamon

Four cups sliced fresh California plums (about two pounds)

One tablespoon butter

Pastry (recipe follows)

Milk and sugar

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

In a mixing bowl, combine sugar, cornstarch, salt and cinnamon; toss plums in mixture until lightly coated.

Pour into four individual oven-proof dishes (about one cup capacity) or 8½ x 2 inch deep baking dish. Dot top with butter. Roll out pastry for top crust. Cover plums and flute edges firmly against sides of dishes. Prick top of crust.

Bake 15 minutes. Remove from oven and brush top with a little milk and sprinkle with sugar. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer, or until crust is nicely browned and cobblers are bubbly.

Serve warm or at room temperature. Makes 4 servings.

Pastry:

One cup flour

One-half teaspoon salt

One-third cup shortening

Two or three tablespoons cold milk

Sift flour and salt together into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk to make a stiff dough. Shape into a ball and set aside until ready to use.

APPLESAUCE CREPES

Applesauce in Gourmet Guise

Add a touch of elegance to your next dinner party by serving Applesauce Crepes for dessert. Use canned applesauce for the filling, sweetened and spiced to your own taste. The Government tells us that canned foods are among the best buys in these days of mounting food costs, and right now, when supplies of storage apples are diminishing, and the new crop of summer apples is not yet ready, canned applesauce is the answer to finding an unusual dessert that does not put a strain on the budget. If you can spend a little more, garnish the crepes with a few fresh strawberries and mint sprigs. Or if you wish, you can serve them from a chafing dish, flaming with warm apple jack. A culinary triumph!

Applesauce Crepes

One cup sifted all-purpose flour

One tablespoon sugar, few grains salt

Three eggs

One cup milk

Two tablespoons melted butter or margarine

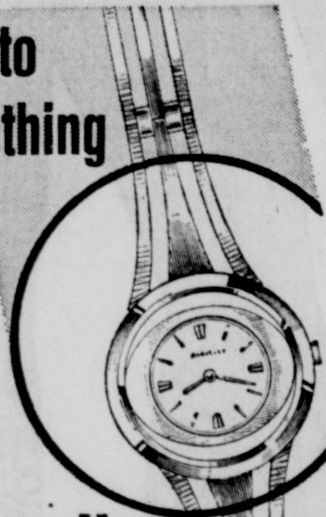

One cup hot spiced canned applesauce

Mix and sift flour, sugar and salt. Beat eggs; add milk; stir until smooth. Add butter. Strain through a fine sieve. Let stand two hours.

Melt one-half teaspoon butter in 7-inch skillet. Pour in a thin layer of batter. Cook over low heat until underside is golden brown. Turn and brown other side (about one minute each side.) Repeat until batter is used. Spread each crepe with hot applesauce spiced to taste. Roll up. Garnish with fresh mint and strawberries. Makes 12 crepes, or 6 servings.

P. E. O. Sisterhood: New Women's Group for Kingston Area

The P. E. O. Sisterhood chartered a new chapter for the Kingston area on Friday, June 1, when seven transfer members and ten new initiates were inducted into Chapter BQ. P. E. O. Chapters A of Highland and AX of Poughkeepsie sponsored the forming of the new group. The organizational meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Morthland of Wittenburg Road, Bearsville.

The P. E. O. Sisterhood is a philanthropic and educational organization interested in bringing to women increased opportunities for higher education. It maintains three educational philanthropies: Cottey Junior College, a fully accredited liberal arts college at Nevada, Mo., International Peace Scholarships for women from other countries to pursue graduate studies, and a student loan fund.

Mrs. R. E. Johnson of Hurley was elected president of the new chapter. Other officers are: Mrs. R. P. Jarrett, Hudson, vice-president; Mrs. Mark DeNies, Poughkeepsie, formerly of Kingston, recording secretary; Mrs. W. E. Morthland, Bearsville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. O. Hill, Woodstock, treasurer; Mrs. T. J. Harkin, Kingston, chaplain; and Mrs. J. M. Lessman, Claverack, guard.

Other new members are

Mrs. D. C. Baker, Kingston, Mrs. J. W. Bolt, Woodstock, Mrs. P. J. Flemming, Claverack, Mrs. H. W. Ford, Kingston, Miss Laura Hill, Woodstock, Miss Virginia Johnson, Hurley, Mrs. H. J. Koch, Claverack, Miss Susan Morthland, Bearsville, Mrs. Charles Patrick and Miss Lynda Patrick, both of Anandale-on-Hudson.

State organizer, Mrs. Virgil Stout, presided at the meeting. Other state officers attending were Mrs. D. E. Inkle, president; Mrs. R. O. Wright, first vice president; Mrs. G. T. Scott, recording secretary; Mrs. L. A. Cullen, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. J. C. Cochrane, treasurer.

Mrs. W. Joseph Coppoc, Poughkeepsie, immediate past president of New York State P. E. O. organization, supervised the original planning arrangements. She presented a devotional meditation at the meeting.

Mrs. Ford was presented a pin in recognition of her 60 year membership in P. E. O. The presentation was made by Mrs. A. A. Mullen, president of Chapter A, from which Mrs. Ford is transferring her membership to the new Chapter BQ. Chapter A is the original P. E. O. Chapter in New York State.

Seventeen members of the sponsoring chapters, A and AX, took part in the initiation ceremony and organizational procedures. Guests were present from chapters in Troy, Schenectady and BN, Poughkeepsie.

A brief musical program followed the organizational meeting. Miss Virginia

Johnson, a new BQ member, played a piano selection. Mrs. Phyllis Bradley, Chapter T, Schenectady, sang two vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Suzanne Lake, also of T.

Lunch was served by members of Chapters A and AX.

Kranepool Needs 42 for '1000'

OLD FRIENDS MEET — Sam McDowell (L) newly-activated New York Yankee pitcher has his hat tipped in good fashion by teammate Jim Ray Hart before Yanks-A's game in Oakland, Calif., Wednesday. Both were acquired from the San Francisco Giants. (UPI)

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Kranepool juggled the baseball from hand to hand, admiring it and admitting that, yes, he would add it to his collection. After 11 years in the National League, the collection isn't exactly crowded.

"Oh, I have a few," he said. "I've got my first hit and my 500th. Maybe this season, I'll get my 1,000th."

It's hard to imagine the perennial part-time Met approaching that kind of career milestone but Kranepool is only 42 hits short of 1,000.

Tuesday night's baseball was special because Kranepool had hit it into the right field bullpen for a pair of runs in the Mets' 5-4 victory over San Francisco. The victim was Juan Marichal, whose 26-6 career record against the Mets is the best of any pitcher.

"Yes, I'll keep it because it's the first one in a long time for me and it came off a pretty good pitcher," said Kranepool. For the record, Kranepool had not reached the seats since August 29 of last season. Also for the record, he hasn't had a great many chances to reach them.

Ever since he signed straight out of high school in those dark days of 1962, Kranepool has been a favorite whipping boy on this club. He has grown from brash teen-ager into mature man, mostly in the shade of the dugout and with a lusty "boo" ringing in his ear.

Rushed to the majors in a classic case of too much, too soon, Kranepool never developed into the superstar Mets fans were told he would be. So they turned on him. "New York is a tough town when you're not going well," said Kranepool. "The mail got pretty rough."

The Atlanta Braves asked Phil Niekro to experiment with an iron-man pitching schedule like Wilbur Wood's after noting the Chicago White Sox star's remarkable success and so far the results have been encouraging.

Niekro, who says it's "too early to tell how pitching every third day will work out," has won his last two starts with two days of rest, has won five straight games and has a 6-2 record and 2.55 earned run average. Niekro turned in his second straight victory with two days of rest Tuesday night when he pitched a six-hitter to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2. It was the Braves' seventh win in their last eight games and suggested that they may yet move into contention in the National League West. Chicago defeated Houston, 3-0. Los Angeles downed Philadelphia, 8-6. Montreal beat San Diego, 7-4. St. Louis topped Cincinnati, 1-5, and New York shaded San Francisco, 5-4, in in eight of their last nine other National League games. Johnny Oates hit a two-run homer and Mike Lum and three-hitter for his seventh win and Billy Williams hit a two-run homer for the Cubs. Cesar Walker hit his fourth loss. Manny Cedeno had two of Houston's three hits as Ken Forsch lost his sixth game against six wins.

Blue gave up five hits in seven innings against the New York Yankees Tuesday night to pick up his fifth victory of the season. He struck out seven — his highest total of the season — as the A's took the Yankees 4-2.

"I wasn't doing anything different," Blue said. "It helped me to win the game and pitch well for the second time in a row. I want to be consistent."

Blue left the game after throwing 144 pitches in seven innings. "The manager made the decision," Blue said.

Manager Dick Williams said he took Blue out because he had thrown a lot of pitches and because the bullpen needed work.

"If we are to be a factor, our bullpen will be a reason. We needed a fresh arm," Williams said.

Darold Knowles pitched the final two innings to preserve Blue's victory and pick up his third save of the season.

The A's scored three runs in the second inning off New York starter Steve Kline. 4-6. Kline gave up three hits and also walked three batters in the inning. Joe Rudi, Mike Hegan and Bert Campaneris drove in the runs.

New York scored its runs in the third inning and both were unearned. Campaneris made two errors in the inning and combined with a single by Roy White and two walks, it got the runs home.

New York reliever pitcher Fred

Beene turned in the best pitching performance of the night. He replaced Kline with one out in the second inning and retired 18 consecutive batters.

The A's rapped him for three singles in the eighth inning to score their final run.

Manager Ralph Houk thought Blue pitched very well. "He'll win some if he throws like that all the time," Houk said. "He got into trouble and then got out of it. That's the mark of a good pitcher."

Frank Howard isn't the formidable foe he once was but the gentle giant of the American League still knows how to hurt a guy.

Howard, a part-time designated hitter with the Detroit Tigers, spoiled Wilbur Wood's bid for victory Tuesday night by hammering his first homer of the year with a man on base in the eighth inning to give the Tigers a 6-5 victory over Chicago.

"I don't hit the ball the way I used to," Howard said. "Maybe I'm getting older . . . I was just trying to keep the ball in play against Wood. He's hard enough to hit as it is."

John Hiller received credit for his third victory in five decisions. Mickey Stanley also had a homer for the Tigers, who moved into first place by a half game over New York in the AL East.

In other American League games, Oakland defeated New York, 4-2. Cleveland edged Texas, 5-4. Baltimore downed Kansas City, 6-4. Milwaukee topped Minnesota, 6-3. Oakland defeated New York, 4-2, and Boston beat California, 6-5.

Fisk Early Leader

NEW YORK (UPI) — The early votes for the American League All-Star team are in and show two players with decisive leads while the other positions are question marks. Catcher Carlton Fisk of the Boston Red Sox and perennial all-star third baseman Brooks Robinson show decisive margins in their individual positions.

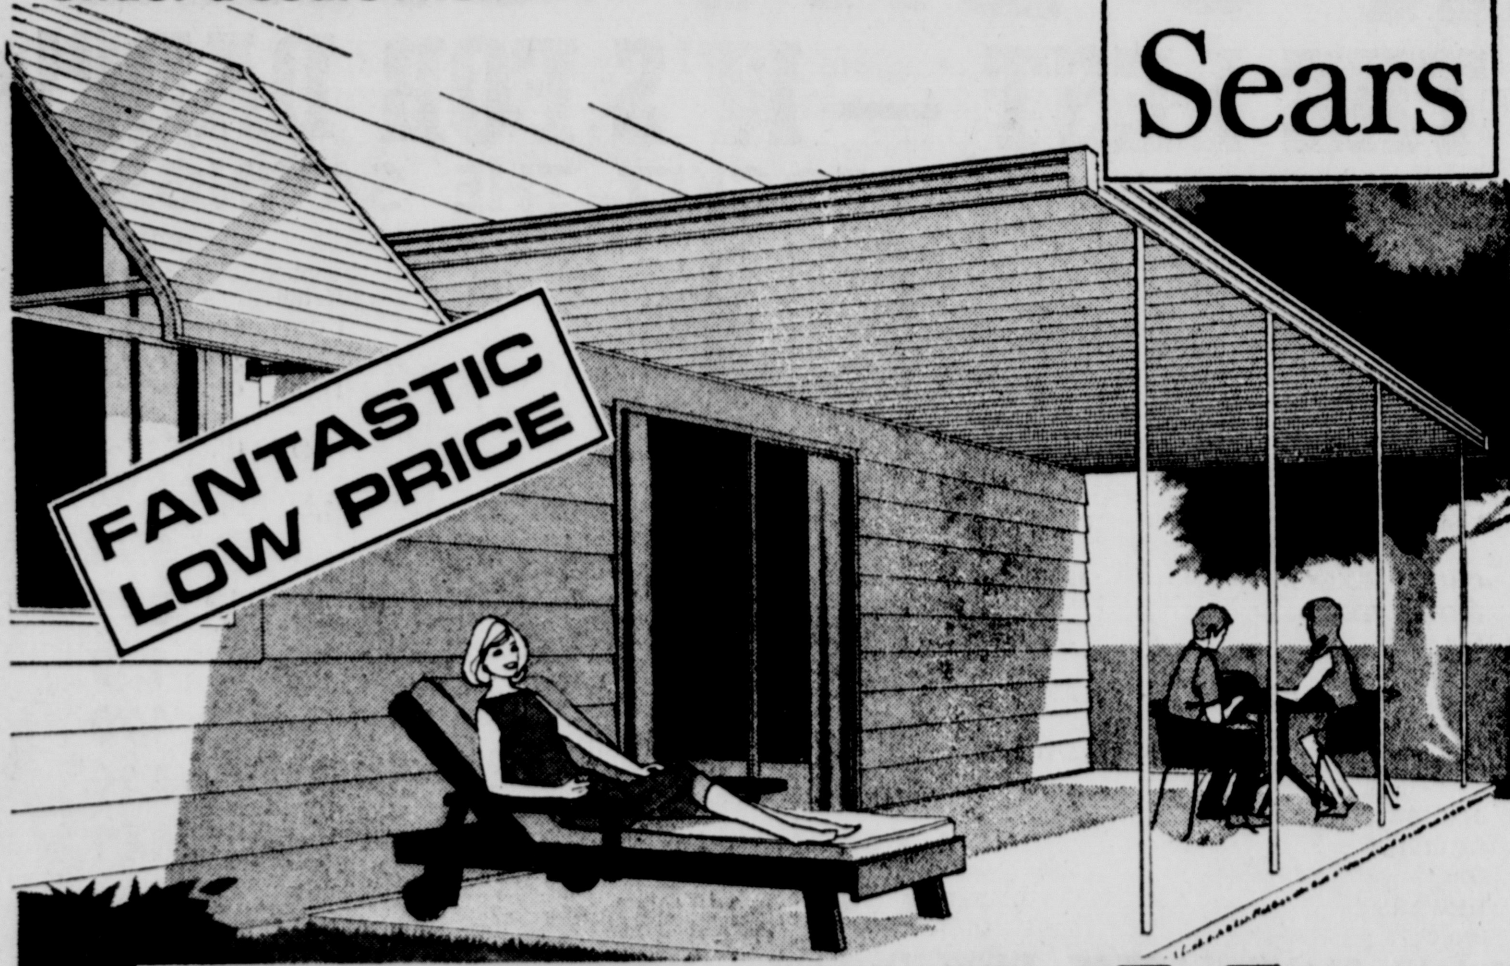

Fans selecting the 1973 team gave Fisk the highest total cast for one man, 28,354. Dick Allen of Chicago won the nod at first base with 27,628 votes. Rounding out the infield is Cookie Rojas at second and Freddie Patek at short.

Oakland's Reggie Jackson led the balloting for the outfield positions with Kansas City's Amos Otis a close second and Bobby Murcer of New York third.

Oakmont Is Palmer Country

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — The lockers of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer—Nos. 226 and 216—are just across from each other in the red-carpeted, fan-cooled upstairs locker room of the aged Oakmont Club.

As Jack and Arnie lace on their spiked shoes for the 73rd U.S. Open Golf Championship, they look up and find themselves eyeball-to-eyeball.

"We're so close we can whisper sweet nothings in each other's ear," Palmer said. It was a big joke.

But it's not a big joke to either of these golfing giants—the idol of an earlier decade, and the strong, young dude who replaced him—as the biggest of all golf tournaments returns to one of its hallowed grounds for four days of high-pressure competition, starting Thursday.

"Ever since I lost in 1962, I've been waiting for the Open to come back to Oakmont," Palmer said today. "This is my country. I am very eager to redeem myself."

"Winning here in 1962 was one of the greatest things that ever happened to me," said Nicklaus. "Naturally, there is tremendous feeling on my part about the course and the people."

One hundred and fifty of the world's best players—137 pros and 13 amateurs—comprise the field teeing off at 7:30 a.m. EDT Thursday. But one would have to be completely devoid of sentiment not to recognize the drama of a new Nicklaus-Palmer confrontation.

It's quite different from 11 years ago. At that time, Nicklaus was a chubby, crew-cut rookie professional of 21 without a pro victory. Palmer was the idol of the game—a bull-shouldered, charismatic charger who captivated golfing fans with his final round comebacks.

The upstart Nicklaus tied

Palmer for the 72-hole lead at 283, then beat him by three strokes, 71 to 74, in an 18-hole playoff.

Eleven years have brought a complete turnaround. Now, Nicklaus is thinned-down and long-haired, with credentials that mark him as the best golfer in the world and a 4-1 favorite here. The underdog is Palmer. At 43, he is 10 years Jack's senior, balding and frustrated, struggling to regain his lost putting magic.

Nicklaus, bidding for his 14th major golfing victory and a chance to overtake the record of the late Bob Jones, is the overwhelming favorite.

A stringy, long-hitting fellow townsman from Columbus, Ohio, Tom Weiskopf, winner of three of his last four tour events, is rated the chief challenger.

Knights, KPA Winners

KINGSTON Knights of Columbus rallied to score five runs with two outs in the bottom of the seventh to edge the Vols 8-7 in Babe Ruth National Division play Tuesday.

In the American Division, Cliff Lyons pitched Kingston Patrollers to a 13-5 romp over the American Legion. He allowed only three hits and struck out 13. Brian Secor started for KPA but was knocked out of the box during the 10-run KPA uprising in the third inning.

Trailing 7-3 going into their last turn at bat, the Knights seemed to be well tamed by Gary LaConture, but then it happened. Marco Tiano singled with one out. He was forced at second and the Vols were one out away from victory that never materialized.

An error followed and Mike Amator singled home a run, shortstop helped his cause with Tom Palmieri's singled loaded a double and triple. Jim Amato slugged three singles and Mike Amato had two for the winners. Bill Miggins collected a pair for the Vols.

Pete Gallagher paced KPA's 11-hit assault on Secor and Jim Stothoff with two doubles, a single and three RBIs. Don Van Loan, Kevin McGrane and Rich Nikerson each had two hits for KPA. Both of Van Loan's came during the 10-run rally when KPA collected seven hits and the Legion committed four errors.

The scores:

Davis and Treat Lead

You'd have to say Mrs. Burton Davis invited the right partner for Tuesday's Member tournament at The Twaalfskill Club. Her guest,

Mrs. Mary Treat of Wiltwyck Golf Club, not only helped the team win first place with net 135, but also earned low gross honors for the day with 43.39-82.

The winners outclassed the field of 13-teams by a nine stroke margin, as they grossed

176 and had combined handicaps of 41 for the 18-hole event. They were the only team to better net par.

Mrs. Bernard Feeney Jr. and Mrs. Robert Davenport (Wiltwyck) were runners-up with net 144. Third place went to the tandem of Mrs. David Hoffman and Mrs. Monashefsky (Wiltwyck) with 146.

Other scores were:

Mrs. Hubert Richter-Mrs. Nina Werbalowsky (Wiltwyck), 147; Mrs. Edward Mianian-Mrs. Nancy Lowe (Wiltwyck), 148; Mrs. William Merrill-Mrs. Richard Gogg (Wiltwyck), 148;

Mrs. N. Levan Haver-Mrs. F. Regas, 149; Mrs. J. Edwards-Mrs. Pappy Bostic (Wiltwyck), 149.

Mrs. George Schneider and Mrs. Betty Davenport (Wiltwyck) had 153 and Mrs. William Pugliese-Mrs. June Van Kleeck (Wiltwyck), 159.

That Minnesota Loss; An Incredible Defeat

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Minnesota's baseball team learned the hard way Tuesday night—never provoke a Trojan.

The result: an eight-run, ninth-inning rally by Southern California for a 8-7 College World Series victory and an almost unbelievable loss and ouster for Minnesota.

Defending three-time champion USC can wrap up its fifth collegiate title in six years Wednesday night with a victory over top-rated Arizona State.

Arizona State, 59-7, earned another shot at the Trojans by ousting Texas 6-5 on Clint Myers' two-out, ninth inning single.

USC beat the Sun Devils 3-1 Monday night in the double-elimination tournament. An Arizona State victory would have sent the tournament to a climactic 13th game Thursday night.

"They probably made us a little mad," said USC Coach Rod Dedeaux, referring to Minnesota, which bunted late in the ball game apparently to score more runs when already leading 7-0.

"That started a lot of bantering back and forth," continued Dedeaux. "Nothing serious—just clean fun, but our players got mad and that might of helped."

Minnesota, 31-16-2, was on the verge of throwing the annual collegiate classic into a three-way scrap for the title when the Trojans bunched eight singles, three Minnesota errors, a sacrifice fly and stolen base into the amazing game-winning comeback.

Southern California won for a third straight night although being out-hit, Minnesota collected 12 hits to USC's nine.

Now, the Trojans will have to solve Arizona State ace Eddie Bane, 15-1, if they want their ninth title in the 27-year history of the tournament.

Southern California, 50-11, will counter with Mark Barr, brother of former USC standout Jim Barr, who now pitches for San Francisco.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicator during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tegeler Throws RV 1-Hitter

KYSERIKE, Bill Redding was the losing pitcher. Tegeler checked Johnny On-The-Spot on just one hit and picked up four for himself as the Lions Club scored a 10-0 victory in the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League.

In other games, Fann's beat the Lions, 6-5, and Lomontville tripped Walter Davenport Sons, Inc., 11-2.

Tegeler whiffed nine and passed four in throwing his one-hitter. He and Bill Knott, who had three hits, combined for seven of his club's nine in the game.

Bostic Has Good Shot at Third Straight

HARVEY BOSTIC

Hansen Takes Accord Feature

By STEVE KANE
KINGSTON
Sixty hopefuls will tie it up Saturday in the opening round of the Ulster County Amateur Golf Tournament at Wiltwyck Golf Club, and the man they'll all be chasing is four-time winner and defending champion, Harvey Bostic.

If someone stops Bostic from becoming the second man in history to win his third straight Herdegen crown, Harvey will likely be as surprised as those observers who have tabbed him the solid favorite.

"I've got a good shot at it," commented a candid Bostic. "I've been playing pretty good the past few weeks." And when Bostic calls it "pretty good," he's not kidding. Among his recent rounds was a seven-under 65 at Wiltwyck.

Sizing up the prime contenders, only one seems to merit genuine consideration — Leon Randall, the only golfer ever to take three consecutive Herdegen titles.

"Leon's back," said Bostic simply, and that's enough said. Randall's velvet touch on the greens makes him a factor despite a neck affliction that may have taken something off the rest of his game.

With Randall in the field, Bostic said the winning score "can't be far away from par."

"I haven't seen much of Bill Odenal," Harvey continued in his appraisal of the field, "but Dave Blakely could be tough. He's the longest hitter around, and he's a good putter."

Just what sort of special talents it will take to conquer the four courses this year, Wiltwyck, Rondout, Locust Tree and Sawyerkill, remains to be seen, but with all four at full par 72's and the tournament at 288, length won't hurt. Accuracy, especially at treacherous Locust Tree, will be likewise important, and on that count Bostic mentioned George Hughes.

"Nobody is straighter than George," Bostic said.

As to the current crop of young turks, Bostic can find only outside shots from that quarter. "Most of them are a year away, but I'll tell you, if hard work is any criteria, they'll make it. A couple of those kids like Kyle Murray and A. J. Mance are out there all the time hitting shots. Some of them might make the cut."

Bostic didn't feel the cutoff point would be much different from last year's 164, but he projected a winning score of 292, 11 strokes higher than his victorious 1972 total. It could even be higher than that.

No one is going to humiliate Bostic in the first round, Rondout, site of round two, is long and particularly hard to be heard. The finale is at Sawyerkill, the least generous layout of all. There, Bostic feels he may have a definite edge.

"Sawyerkill is a real test. The last time we played there I picked up six or seven strokes, and the curses little else will I haven't played it yet this year, but even so that could be the key."

Bostic has practically owned the Herdegen since 1962. Since that time he has finished ninth, fourth, fifth, third twice and second three times to go with his four victories. The string has no doubt been aided by the New York State Golf Association forced Bostic out of the state amateur, so the Herdegen ranks near the top of Harvey's commitments this year. Small impetus perhaps, but rarely has a summer gone by without a Bostic victory in something. It is doubtful the summer of '73 will be an exception.

"No, you always want to win. It doesn't mean as much as the first ones did, but it's a real good tournament — a real test."

NFL Facing New Drug Crisis
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League, which has had to contend with four of its players being arrested for drug possession, is facing a new crisis: charges by narcotics agents that at least four stars are dealing heavily in drugs.

The NFL denied any knowledge of Tuesday's reports that several players are under surveillance for trafficking in drugs, but said it is "ready and willing to cooperate" in uncovering such activities.

A New York Times story said that, according to federal, state and local narcotics agents, two teammates are believed to be dealing in a multimillion-dollar cocaine operation, another player is suspected of having helped finance a cocaine dealer's operation and the fourth player, reportedly a heavy smoker of hashish, is believed to be involved with large amounts of it. None of the four was named.

In the past two years, there have been cases of drugs in-expenditures," the league spokesman said. A review of the NFL program is expected later this month at the league's annual owners meeting, perhaps prompted in part by a May 11 statement by Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., who spoke with more than 100 coaches, players, trainers and team physicians, then called for greater self-regulation by pro sports. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee and its investigation subcommittee, reiterated his statement Tuesday.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Accompany an associate to a worthwhile place that will give you a better insight into modern trends. Expand where the spiritual side of life is concerned. Adopt a new viewpoint.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Become more cooperative with co-workers instead of deviating so much, and get better results. Buy new items to make your wardrobe more charming. Bring out the inner you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 1) Make this a profitable and enjoyable day with business associates. Take the time to show mate how much you value the alliance. Avoid one who has some strange ideas. Relax at home tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day to put your business affairs in order so that you can realize your fondest dreams very soon. Some entertaining at home can be most enjoyable tonight. Show that you have poise.

For this reason your progeny should be given an opportunity to travel a good deal and meet people of various backgrounds. The study of foreign languages and comparative religions should be included in the formal education. Give ethical training early in life.

West didn't have any attractive lead against six no-trump but he managed to find the worst one. When it is clear that your opponents have based their bidding on point count, you want to make your safest lead, not one that is likely to cost you a trick.

Normally 34 high card points is more than enough for a small slam. This time, even after

South had let the heart lead come around to his jack, he could only count to 11 tricks. The twelfth would have to come from a 3-3 break in a red suit or a squeeze of some sort. South planned for all contingencies. At trick two he led a heart to dummy. Then he led a diamond and stuck in the seven-spot. When you are after a squeeze for 12 tricks you try to concede a trick early since you aren't interested in all 13. West won with the nine and led a third heart to set up his queen. It also forced East to make a discard. This was no problem. He let a club go. The problem developed three tricks later after South had cashed the good clubs. This time East had to let a spade or diamond go. Either discard would be fatal but he tried the diamond as his best chance.

South, who was something of a show-off, proceeded to show his hand with the remark, "If East still has the diamond stopped I will play the ace and king and squeeze West. If he doesn't have them stopped my eighth of diamonds will be my 12th trick."

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

DEPARTURE: (Q.) John lives in the city and has been coming to the suburban town where I live each weekend. He has been staying with his aunt. He has been coming on Friday and staying till Sunday. We usually had dates on Friday and Saturday nights.

Two Friday nights ago we were talking and I told him I would like for us to see a certain movie. He said he didn't want to see it but to go ahead and see it myself. Well, Saturday afternoon I saw it with some girl friends. Saturday night he did not call me. Sunday I called his aunt and she told me he had gone back home Saturday. I have not seen him since. I think John must be mad at me because I went to the movie. He shouldn't be, because we didn't have a date Saturday afternoon.

What can I do? I can't call him because I don't have his telephone number. I am hurting. I love him. Please help me.—In Pain in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Do not try to call John on the telephone. Do not blame the movie, either. He may have left for some entirely different reason.

If you do not get a call from him within a couple of weeks, write him a very brief note: "Dear John, I miss you. Did I do something wrong?" Write nothing else except your name.

If you do not get an answer you will know—for whatever reason—that it is over. If you do get an answer, maybe you will find out the real reason for his strange action. But do not insist on it.

DANCE DUD: (Q.) I liked Rob for two years before I got to go out with him. The way I did it was to invite him to one of the dances my church has. He ignored me the whole night. He really hurt me and I don't know what to do. But I do know I still like him.—Disappointed in Virginia.

(A.) Do not invite Rob to take you anywhere again. But do continue to be friendly with him. Do not let him know his behavior hurt you.

If there is a next time, let him make it. I believe in such a situation he would be warmer toward you and more attentive.

Some boys resent being invited to take girls places. The resentment may be for either of two reasons. First, the boy may figure he is being used. Second, he may think that it is his place, not the girl's, to do the asking.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

ABC Comedy Debuts Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — The principal characters in ABC-TV's new, weekly, half-hour situation comedy "Thicker Than Water," which bows in tonight and is based on a British series, are:

—A proper, middle-aged spinster (Julie Harris) who has kept house for years for her wealthy, likable, earthy old father, now an ailing octogenarian, and who, though she undoubtedly loves him, can hardly wait for him to kick off so she can finally cash in.

—Her middle-aged playboy brother (Richard Long), who hasn't been home in eight years but dashes there the instant he hears the old man apparently is going fast so that he, too, can grab his share of the inheritance.

—The old man himself (Malcolm Atterbury), not a brilliant gent perhaps, but a wily geezer, unwaveringly proud of the achievements of his pickle factory, undaunted by the prospect of death, swigging a bottle of booze on the sly in bed, fond of his children and employees (he will his false teeth to an old worker), and probably certain to outlive almost everyone around him (this doctor predeceases him).

Some Place to Go

Ladies and gentlemen, I am here to tell you that there will probably always be a British empire, and so long as there is, American television will have some place to go to get ideas for programs.

This wild series, this "Thicker Than Water," is based on the British show "Nearest and Dearest," and is one of the funniest debuts of a U.S. video series in memory. If it can sustain the level of the premiere in future episodes (it is scheduled only for the summer), ABC-TV would be mad not to find a place for it in its regular season lineup.

On the basis of a preview who is just doing the best he and what kind of headstone he can under the circumstances to hold things together—and sees the taste of all those involved in mainly the good side of people the show that you feel like bursting out with laughter as there is one wonderfully the scene unfolds. There is funny scene in which the more genuine humor in the father, son and daughter sit discussion of the wake than in around seriously discussing an entire season of "Brady plans for the old man's wake. Bunch" shows.

Roles Played with Gusto

Miss Harris and Long play their roles with fine gusto, never letting the mood of farce dissipate. Long's attitude is summed up when the lawyer handling the family estate greets him with "how do?", and he replies, "How much?"

But though Miss Harris and Long are splendid, and Jerry Paris' direction and Rick Mittleman's script contribute beautifully to the frantic, nutty proceedings, it is Atterbury as the old man who very nearly steals the show.

It's not so much the plot, in which he holds the ace (his son and daughter will get their inheritances only if they run his factory together for five years), but his disarming rapport with the audience as a nice old gent

Another Viet Agreement Signed

PARIS (UPI) — The four supposed to have ended the original warring parties of fighting in Vietnam. Representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong gathered once more in the Kleber Avenue conference hall — site of the long, drawn-out cease-fire agreement that was supposed to have ended the war.

It was a reluctant South Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu has said no signing was necessary because Saigon had not violated the original agreement. But in the end he bowed to U.S. economic pressures and decided to go along with the ceremony, diplomatic sources reported in Saigon.

Since the original Jan. 27 truce war has continued to ravage South Vietnam and each side blamed the other for the thousands of cease-fire violations which have claimed more than 100,000 lives where there was supposed to be peace after nearly three decades of war.

President Nixon ordered Kissinger back to Paris for more talks with Thieu, suspended mine sweeping of the North Vietnamese harbors, broke off talks on postwar U.S. economic aid to Hanoi and mounted an intensive bombing campaign in Cambodia. This time the agreement is supposed to bring peace to Cambodia too.

A Communist spokesman said the communists worked out in a last two-hour session today between Kissinger and Thieu closely resembled the 14-point plan made public in Saigon Tuesday calling for an effective cease-fire, the first step in making it binding. The four parties were called in for the 4 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) signing ceremony.

In Stockholm, the Swedish foreign minister said upon his return from a visit to Hanoi that North Vietnam was ready to increase its military activities if the Paris talks fail.

Saigon Probing 'News Leak'

SAIGON (UPI) — A government spokesman said today the Paris peace talks were "destroyed" by Saigon reports Tuesday that Henry A. Kissinger and his Hanoi counterpart agreed on a 14-point accord strengthening the Vietnam truce.

Government spokesman Bui Bao Truc also denied anyone within President Nguyen Van Thieu's administration leaked details of the Paris agreement to newsmen.

However, United Press International spoke personally to Saigon government sources Tuesday and they detailed provisions of the Kissinger-Thieu agreement. They said the 14-point pact was designed to make the Vietnam cease-fire work not only in South Vietnam but in Laos and Cambodia.

The sources said only a few objections by Thieu were delaying the signing of the agreement.

Truc said today the government is investigating to see who "put up" the story of the Paris agreement. He said the Saigon government would apply "appropriate" measures to the person responsible.

"It was," Truc added, "an act destroying the peace talks."

Neither side in Paris commented on reports of the agreement.

Meanwhile on the war front, post-truce fighting pounded on with a government spokesman reporting that Communist cease-fire violations totaled 132 over the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. The figure compared with the 97 reported Tuesday, the fewest in a week.

The spokesman said the escalated fighting cost the Communists 31 killed in two clashes north of Saigon.

A Warning and Sharp Exchange in UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — he said, "should realize that the The Soviet Union, speaking in a patience of the Arab peoples, and not only of the Arab peoples, is not unlimited . . . warned Israel and its "protectors." Tuesday that Arab patience in the Middle East is limited.

In his speech to the Security Council, Ambassador Yakov A. Malik did not name Israel's "protectors," but he left no doubt that he meant the United States.

"Israel and its protectors," he said, "should realize that the patience of the Arab peoples, and not only of the Arab peoples, is not unlimited . . ."

"The Soviet Union is against any attempts to bypass the United Nations and its machinery by unilateral negotiations or mediation."

The speech came five days before the arrival of Brezhnev in Washington, where he will confer with President Nixon on a range of topics certain to include the Middle East crisis.

Malik's remarks touched off a sharp exchange between himself and the Israeli ambassador, Yosef Tekoah.

Tekoah said, as he has done throughout the five days of debate so far, that Israel insists on direct peace negotiations with the Arabs. He told Malik the late Andrei Vishinsky, then Soviet foreign minister, advocated such talks in a council speech in 1954.

Malik said this was an "exercise in semantics and English grammar" that could not justify Israel's refusal to withdraw from Arab territory occupied since the 1967 war.

"The Security Council can, and has the right to, take the most severe measures against aggressors and to defend states which are victims of aggressors," Malik said. "This can be done only if none of the permanent members, by an unjust veto, paralyzes the Security Council and takes the aggressor under its wing."

U.S. ambassador John A. Scali did not reply, but he is scheduled to speak on Thursday before the council's expected adjournment.

Diplomatic sources said the council, now reviewing the Middle East crisis, wanted to delay its debate until after the talks between Nixon and Brezhnev.

The review, requested last April by Egypt, resumed today with Saudi Arabia, Kenya, the United Arab Emirates, Lebanon and France scheduled to speak.

Impeachment Discussion in the House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time since the Watergate affair became public, several congressmen have issued a unified call for the House of Representatives to dip into the case and decide if President Nixon should be impeached.

For 90 minutes Tuesday, nearly a dozen congressmen discussed the matter on the House floor.

Led by Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., they called for establishment of a special committee within the House Judiciary Committee "to sift all the information gathered by the Senate Watergate committee and the grand jury."

Mrs. Abzug added, "I do not propose that we file a resolution of impeachment. I only want this committee to determine if there are impeachable offenses. After that it is up to the House or whatever any member may choose to do."

Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey, R-Calif., foiled in his own efforts at starting a debate last Wednesday when Rep. Earl Landgrebe, R-Ind., cut him off with a parliamentary maneuver, praised the effort and said that was all he was trying to do last week. Landgrebe was not present during Tuesday's discussion.

McCloskey said he had reserved another hour next Monday to continue the debate.

All those who spoke chose their words carefully and it was obvious they didn't want to give the impression of rushing about with cries of impeachment.

The strongest words came from Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md., who said the Nixon administration in the Watergate affair and other actions had presented the elements of "embryonic fascism in this country" growing out of the "awesome power proceeding from one man." Congress, he said, ought to do something about it.

Some congressmen didn't agree with those who spoke Tuesday, and two Democrats circulated a paper for their colleagues to sign stating their disagreement—to show that impeachment action was not representative of the House.

Circulating the petition were Reps. Hugh L. Carey of New York and Fred B. Rooney of Pennsylvania. They said in a statement that "loud talk is not representative of the mood of the House."
